Reaches Agreement With 21 Manufacturers Asserting Claims in Actions Alleging Violations of Clayton Anti-Trust Law.

DE FOREST FIRM GETS $1,000,000

Companies Acquire Licenses and Infringement Proceedings Are Dropped — Stabilization Expected in the Entire Industry.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 22. — The Radio Corporation of America announced today an understanding had been reached for settlement of antitrust suits, involving $47,000,000 in claims, brought against it by 21 vacuum tube manufacturers not operating under license patents of the Radio Corporation.

The understanding is with reference to actions brought against the R. C. A. charging violation of the Clayton act by reason of the so-called "exclusive right" license agreement between the Radio Corporation and radio receiving set manufacturers.

The settlement provides for the acquisition of R. C. A. patents by active companies involved in the settlement, including the De Forest Radio Co.

Firms on Equal Terms.
An announcement by attorneys for the De Forest company said, "Practically all important tube manufacturers will be licensed on equal terms under Radio Corporation patents with the result that the industry should rapidly become stabilized."

The suits have been pending for years. David Sarnoff, president of R. C. A., said their discontinuance will enable the industry to devote more of its attention to the development of new products and new services for the public and should have a stabilizing effect on business.

Several patent suits had been brought by R. C. A. against companies which sued R. C. A. under the anti-trust law.

Sarnoff's statement said, "The entire manufacturing companies that are parties to the settlement have recognized patent rights of R. C. A. by acquiring licenses under its patents, and these patents and infringement suits will be dropped."

The R. C. A. has also obtained rights for use both by itself and its tube licensees under radio tube patents owned by the De Forest Radio Co.

Settlement Costs $1,500,000.
The claims against the R. C. A. in the anti-trust suits totaled roughly $47,000,000. Although no authoritative announcement was made on this point, it was understood in Wall Street the cost of the settlement, including that of the rights R. C. A. obtained from the De Forest company, was about $1,500,000 for all parties.

The companies which reached the agreement with R. C. A. are: The Forest Radio Co., Melitron Tube Co., Vesta Battery Co., the Van Horn Co., Schickling Products Corporation, Gold Seal Electrical Co., Universal Electric Lamp Co., Republic Radio Tube Co., Mutual Electric Lamp Co., Continental Corporation, The Sunlight Lamp Co., Marvin Radio Tube Corporation, Radex Corporation, Globe Electric Co., Arceturus Radio Tube Co., Duotron Radio Tube Corporation, Gold Seal Manufacturing Co., Superion Manufacturing Co., Clearton Vacuum Tube Co., Diamond Radio Tube Co., and Franklin Electric Gold Seal Co.

MAN SHOT DEAD IN FIGHT IN FLAT, TWO OTHERS HURT

Frank Rizzo Found in Street by Police Admits Killing Frank Mandino at 1701A Bacon Street.

Frank Mandino, 36 years old, a tailor, 1408A North Nineteenth street, and the father of three children, was shot and killed last night in a flat at 1701A Bacon street.

Police arrested a man booked as Frank Rizzo, 45, a tailor, residing at the Bacon street address, who is said to have admitted shooting Mandino following a quarrel.

Rizzo, with a finger on his left hand badly torn by a bullet, was found running on the street several blocks away from the flat. He told police that the shooting occurred when Mandino and Vito Moore, 27, 5908 Theodore avenue, came to the flat and attacked him.

In the flat, furnished only with a cot and bed clothing, police found the body of Mandino, with bullet wounds in the left side and left leg, and Moore, who was suffering from a skull injury.

An empty automatic pistol was found on the floor, with six empty cartridges nearby, and a revolver a short distance away. The revolver had not been fired, a bullet from the automatic having lodged in one chamber, jamming the action.

Rizzo's version was that Mandino and Moore came to the flat at 10:30 o'clock, roused him from his bed and attacked him as soon as he opened the door. He said he believed that Mandino fired at him with the revolver, and that he began using the automatic pistol in his own defense. After shooting Mandino, police say, Rizzo was attacked by Moore and beat him on the head with the pistol. In doing so, the last remaining cartridge was discharged, wounding Rizzo's finger.

Rizzo said that he and Moore had been on bail since he went to Detroit several weeks ago, leaving the flat in Moore's charge. In his absence, he charges, Moore sold $135 worth of furniture, all except the cot. Rizzo had asked police to arrest Moore yesterday morning after he had taken the officers to a salvage company and pointed out furniture as that taken from the flat. Moore could not be found yesterday.

Last night at City Hospital Moore said that the quarrel was over $100 that Mandino had been trying to collect from Rizzo. He said that Rizzo had agreed to do some plastering for Mandino's father, had failed to do the work after he had got the money, and that the fight began the moment they entered the flat.

JUDGE CRITICISES POLICE FOR USING WOMAN AS DECOY

Foster Acquits One Man, Remits Penalty of Another Previously Convicted on Her Complaint.

SHE FAILS TO APPEAR AT THE HEARING

Court Orders Man Agent of Morals Group to Appear Tuesday and Threatens to Fine Him.

Police co-operation with the Vigilance Committee of Washington boulevard, volunteer morals group of undisclosed membership, was criticized by Judge Foster today in acquitting one man, remitting the fine of another, and ordering a hearing in the case of two women, all arrested through the activity of the group.

In the case of Riley H. Lamb, 4508 Shenandoah avenue, who had been fined $25 for disturbing the peace of Mrs. Helen Rollins Kelly, one of the decoys, Judge Foster set aside the fine, which already had been ordered remitted by Mayor Miller.

Mrs. Kelly, who had promised by counsel to be in court, if cited for contempt, did not appear today. "Even if she did show up," Judge Foster remarked, "I should not listen. I am heartily tired of such police testimony. Incidentally, I am of the opinion the Wickertsham report bearing on bad practices by the police should be more widely read."

Male Morals Agent Criticized.
Later he heard the cases of two women, charged with vagrancy on the complaint of James Farrow of 140 Washington boulevard. Farrow did not appear to press his charge.

"Farrow is also a representative of the vigilance committee," Alvin Hackman, attorney for the women, told the court. "I am sure that in this case he was instructed by James McKelvey Jr., to take McKelvey's automobile and drive down the street, backfiring the engine, and then to arrest Farrow. Finally he killed his engine, and entered a house there on the pretext that he wanted to telephone for help for his automobile."

McKelvey, I am informed, hailed Detective Sgt. Mehringer and Detective Kincer of the morals squad, who were working with him, and the policemen arrested these two defendants.

"This is more fine work by the police," Judge Foster broke in ironically. "I don't think the Police Department is entirely to blame," Hackman interposed.

"Certainly the police know what is to be done properly to make a case," replied Judge Foster. Then he turned to the two detectives. "Threatened to Fine Informer."
"Now I want this man Farrow in court Tuesday," he continued. "And I am going to fine him when he gets here."

Later he told reporters he intended to take this action under an ordinance which prescribes that a prosecuting witness may be assessed the costs of a case if he fails to appear. The case he maintained the prosecution through malice.

In Judge Blaine's court, the case of Wechtel Shay, another of the seven men arrested on Mrs. Kelly's complaint, was called for rehearing. Judge Blaine offered to dismiss the charge against him, but Hackman declined the offer, saying he wanted the case reheard in its entirety so that his client, a teacher in Normandy High School, might be exonerated. Accordingly the case was set for next Monday.

McKelvey, a son of the former Director of Public Safety, resides at 4119 Washington boulevard, but has his office in an apartment building at No. 4140, which he operates. At that address lives "Major" C. R. Edrington, former executive secretary of the organization, who continued as a self-appointed crusader after he had left the job and directed the case prosecuted by Mrs. Kelly. McKelvey could not be reached.

BRITAIN LIMITS TRADE IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE; MAKES SUSPENSION OF GOLD STANDARD FOR SIX MONTHS

TWO FLYERS KILLED WHEN MILITIA SHIP CRASHES IN STORM

Capital Authorities Analyze Measures and Express View Conditions in England Will Improve.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The American Government, it is understood, regards Great Britain's temporary suspension of the gold standard as likely to improve economic conditions in England and elsewhere in the world.

This was made clear today in official quarters. The view was expressed that the actual suspension could not be regarded as serious as had been the constant possibility of the action.

So far as the United States is concerned, it may bring a stronger competition in certain exports where American business is in competition with British products. This amounts to about 10 per cent in such countries as the Argentine, where exports recently were made.

The British action is looked upon by this Government as the adoption of a variable standard, rather than the complete abandonment of the gold standard.

Trade Still Based on Gold.
It was pointed out in official circles that world trade would continue to be based on the gold standard, whether embodied in the dollar, the pound or the franc.

There is a strong possibility that the action, while lowering wages and rents in England, will stimulate the buying of raw materials. In this case, the United States might profit by the action, as most of its exports to the United Kingdom are in the form of raw materials.

It can now be said the British action has been impending for many months. There has been a gradually increasing amount of British funds being invested in the United States, the latest figures stating it at $1,500,000,000.

Adoption of the variable standard is regarded as likely to have profound effects temporarily on exchanges and cause temporary dislocations in international trade and finance.

The first real effect was to decrease the value in gold of the pound and a consequent rise in commodity prices in England, and the British action calls for a large amount of readjustment in Great Britain, it has had no material effect on commodity prices in the United States.

Little Effect in U. S.
There may be a decrease in imports, it is felt here do not expect it to have any appreciable effect in the United States, as only a small amount of American goods shipped to England are out of the luxury class, except raw materials such as cotton and wheat. It is believed the movement will have no real effect in the United States and will definitely improve conditions in England.

GOVERNMENT WILL ACT TO PREVENT FOOD PROFITEERING

Emergency Financial Measure Now in Effect Following Speedy Approval by Parliament; Program of Drastic Regulations.

STOCK EXCHANGE TO REOPEN TOMORROW

International Conference on Gold Desired — Early Election on Tariff Issue Discussed — Move to Put Laborites in Cabinet.

LONDON, Sept. 22. — Rushed through Parliament in record time and signed by a royal commission, the British Government's emergency measure suspending the gold standard went into effect today for a period of six months. The London Stock Exchange was closed for the second day but will be reopened tomorrow.

The House of Commons passed the gold payment suspension measure three minutes before closing time (11 o'clock) last night in spite of halfhearted attacks by Labor back-benchers and the House of Lords required only two minutes to give it the necessary three readings. The commission acted for King George, who is in Scotland.

There was no division on the final vote in the Commons, but the Government's new measure, of about 100 on successive closure motions. Labor members opposed the bill chiefly on the grounds that economy measures already adopted were unnecessary if gold payments were suspended.

Drastic regulations under an emergency powers act, such as were effected at the time of the British general strike in 1926, will be enforced to prevent profiteering in food and an unwarranted rise in general retail prices. It was authoritatively learned today.

The Treasury issued an order prohibiting until further notice the purchase of foreign exchange or transfer of funds by British subjects except for financing normal trade requirements for contracts existing before Sept. 21. The order also exempts reasonable traveling expenses or personal purchases.

For Gold Conference.
Britain tonight is preparing to renew efforts for a international conference to deal with problems of the world food supply. Lord Reading, Foreign Secretary, let it be known that Great Britain again would seek to call such a conference.

He thinks recent British developments may remove the objections of some nations to the conference. No time or place has been considered so far a meeting, but the Foreign Secretary said he thought the conference should include representatives of the central banks and governments.

In Throgmorton Street.
The second day of gold standard suspension found financial London slowly adjusting itself. With the Stock Exchange closed, dealers assembled in force in Throgmorton street for a few operations in international securities, the committee having announced it had no objection to members' dealing outside the house.

No gold was offered in the bullion market today, although arrivals consisted of 250,000 sovereigns and 484,000 sterling in bars. The nominal price for gold was fixed today at 99 shillings and 7 pence per ounce against 84 shillings 9 pence yesterday. Today's price was based on the United States dollar as the principal gold currency and the market took the rate of $4.15 to the pound.

Commodities improved further today. Tin rose 1/2 a ton, silver 1 penny an ounce, while cotton and wheat in Liverpool moved against buyers. Stock brokers saw in the de-

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The United States monetary gold stock has taken a sudden drop of $109,100,000, it was announced by the Federal Reserve Bank today, which said that this amount of metal had been sold for foreign account, although not actually exported as yet.

This loss in monetary gold comes just after American stocks have crossed the $6,000,000,000 mark for the first time. While no information as to the takers of this metal was available, it was felt in banking circles that it was probably taken by France or Holland or both. It was pointed out that continental central banks may have wished to increase the amount of metal available in case of unforeseen fluctuations from the London crisis.

Of this amount of metal $95,200,000 was set aside for foreign account, or " earmarked " late yesterday, after the daily gold statement showed a sale of $109,100,000 more today. Furthermore, $30,000,000 in gold, a small transaction, was exported to France.

Hoover and Aids Discuss Many Vital Problems.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—President Hoover's Cabinet meeting today was of exceptional length.

With a number of international and business questions to be discussed, Secretaries Stimson and Lamont were the last to leave. Lamont has been one of the President's close advisers on international economic problems. Secretary Wilbur, back from the West, attended the meeting. The President had not completed the Cabinet session when he held his usual Tuesday press conference at noon. He left the meeting to hold the conference and then returned.

INVESTORS SUE BROKERS FOR LOSS IN BRIDGE BONDS

Two Actions Against Knight, Dysart & Gamble Ask for $38,710 and Interest.

$1,000,000 INVESTED BY ST. LOUISANS

Toll Causeway at Lake Pontchartrain Failed When State Built Free Spans Few Miles Away.

Two suits, asking a total of $38,710 in damages, were filed against members of the brokerage house of Knight, Dysart & Gamble in Circuit Court yesterday by customers who claim they lost that much by investing in securities of the New Orleans Pontchartrain Bridge Co., which became worthless.

The bridge company, now in receivership, built and operated a 14-mile toll causeway across Lake Pontchartrain, near New Orleans. Its business has been upset by a pair of free state bridges a few miles away, at the outlet of the lake. St. Louisans invested about $1,000,000 in the venture, which was financed by sale of $3,500,000 in first mortgage bonds, and $2,000,000 in debentures by a syndicate of St. Louis, New Orleans, New York and Chicago banking houses, including Knight, Dysart & Gamble.

One suit yesterday was in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Matson of 5016 Pershing avenue, who seek $22,540 and interest, and the other was for William Boefer of 2031 Burger street, who asks $16,170 and interest. Matson is general manager of the Harrison-Haus Laundry, which is owned by several hotels, and Boefer is a stationary engineer for the laundry.

Other Suits to Be Filed.

According to Edmund Halifen of Hoffman & Naumburg, lawyers, who filed the suits, yesterday was the last day for instituting them under the statute of limitations.

Halifen declared that later he would file similar suits for two sisters of Matson, who invested $5000 and $4000, respectively, in the bridge; for a department store salesman, who invested $2000 or thereabouts, and for a man who put in $1000. The suits proposed to be filed will be based on later sales.

Matson, who is 63 years old, said his investment in the bridge represented his life savings, and that he had been induced by the salesmen to trade first mortgage bonds, which he bought first, for debentures, a junior security.

All of the holdings of the Matsons and Boefer are in debentures, Halifen said. The suits show that the Matsons made six purchases between Sept. 22, 1926, and May 15, 1927, of securities with face value of $12,500, for which they paid $12,540, and Boefer made four purchases between Sept. 24, 1926, and April 20, 1928, for securities with face value of $15,500, for which he paid $16,170.

The suits, which are identical in character, assert that the defendant brokers and their employees made various false statements about the bridge bonds. In particular, they allege that it was represented the bridge company had a Louisiana franchise which provided that for 20 years no competing bridge could be erected within 20 miles. Also, they aver, the investors were assured that tolls would amount to four times as much as interest charges, and that the securities were a safe investment.

No Guarantee in Franchise.

As a matter of fact, the suits contend, the franchise made no guarantee against competition, but prior to the time the alleged representations were made the Louisiana Legislature had passed bills for the competing free state bridges, which were opened to traffic last year. As a result, it is alleged, the Pontchartrain bridge cannot earn enough to pay its taxes and operating expenses, and the plaintiff's purchases have become valueless.

A broker's prospectus describing the bridge company's securities, at the time they were offered to the public, said as to the franchise: "The Louisiana Highway Commission has granted a franchise, which has been acquired by the company, giving it the right to construct, own, maintain and operate the bridge. Under the terms of this franchise, from and after 20 years from the date of construction of the bridge, the State of Louisiana may acquire the property at a price equal to the original cost of the bridge and approaches, plus cost of new construction, less charge for depreciation of 1 per cent per annum. The Highway Commission covenants that neither the State nor the Commission nor any subdivision of the State shall permit the construction or operation of any bridge within a distance of thirty miles of either side of New Orleans-Pontchartrain bridge. The necessary approval of the Secretary of War has been obtained. The individual defendants named in the prospectus are Harry F. Knight, Clarence O. Gamble, Thomas N. Dysart, Harry Hall Knight,

KILLED IN FIGHT

WINS HALF OF $50,000 ESTATE LEFT TO LODGE

Son of Pair Wed in Handshake Ceremony Succeeds in Court Fight.

Alexander H. H. Stratton of Milwaukee, Wis., is entitled to half of the $50,000 estate left to Masonic organizations by Henry Hiram Stratton, a stationary engineer, who died at 5722 Barmine avenue in 1925, Federal Judge Faris ruled today.

The Wisconsin man sued as the son of Stratton and Helen Lindert, a Salvation Army worker. The former Miss Lindert, now 55 years old and the wife of A. B. Glaeser of Redlands, Cal., testified that Stratton told her hand in a Milwaukee park in 1922 and that they pledged fidelity as man and wife.

"He told me," Mrs. Glaeser testified, "that he was the Quaker handshake. The Quakers are good people and what is good enough for them is good enough for us. We don't need any other wedding."

"If her testimony is to be believed," Judge Faris said in his opinion, "there was a common law marriage. Her good reputation over a period of years, her long continued service in the Salvation Army, and the fact that she left Stratton immediately on learning that he had another wife, all spoke favorably for her."

"All of the testimony shows that the testator seems to have been, at least in his dealing with women, a thoroughgoing scoundrel."

Mrs. Glaeser, who was working in a laundry by day and doing Salvation Army work by night when she met Stratton, testified that she came to St. Louis in 1923, and that her husband died soon after birth. The following year, she said, she was again an expectant mother, and asked Stratton to have their marriage legally confirmed. He told her then, she said, that he had a wife in New York.

"I left him and returned to Milwaukee, where Alexander was born," Mrs. Glaeser testified. "Henry corresponded with me and on one occasion sent money for an operation for Alexander."

Stratton divorced his New York wife and married a St. Louis woman, who later divorced him. In his will he left $5 to the East in honor of Washington, the daughter of this last marriage, and the balance of his estate to the Masonic Home and the Masonic Temple Association.

SHARLET RENEWS HIS PLEA FOR CUT IN RAILWAY TAXES

Declares Roads Likely to Be Forced Into Hands of Government by Financial Stress.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 22.—Unless the financial position of the railroads is improved immediately the carriers "are likely to be taken over and run by the Government," Attorney-General Sharlet said today in a statement advocating reduction in taxes assessed against the roads in Missouri. "If they should go into bankruptcy and serious losses occur to third parties, their securities it would be impossible to refinance them without Government assistance."

"Purely as a matter of self-interest it would seem advisable to make it possible for the railroads to continue in business rather than take them out of existence, resulting in a decrease in revenue which must be restored by the additional taxes upon other taxpayers."

Sharlet's plea followed a hearing yesterday before the Missouri Board of Equalization at which representatives of most of the steam railroads operating in this State asked for material reductions in taxation assessments.

Joseph L. Patton and Louis W. C. Frohart.

The Pontchartrain bridge was opened in 1928, giving New Orleans a first speedy and convenient direct highway to the East and Northeast, including the road to noted Gulf Coast resorts. Previously the route to the East involved two ferry crossings of the outlet of Lake Pontchartrain at Chef Menteur and The Rigolito. The state took over the ferries and made free, in competing with the private bridge, and then replaced them with the free public bridges.

ASSERTS ROMANCE OF PROF. KANE WAS HARMLESS AFFAIR

Mother of Woman Friend of Murder Suspect Says Letters to Him Have Been Misinterpreted.

By the Associated Press.

HAMPTON, Va., Sept. 21.—The testimony to be offered for and against Prof. Elisha Kent Kane was definitely indicated today as preparations were made for his preliminary hearing tomorrow on a charge of murdering his wife.

Coroner George K. Vandalier's certified report, filed yesterday, gave for the first time definite information of evidence the parents of Mrs. Jenna Graham Kane offered to support the theory that the University of Tennessee professor drowned his wife after premeditation.

The writer of the mysterious letter signed "Betty" was identified yesterday by her mother as Mrs. Elizabeth H. Dahl, New York. The coroner said the letters were an important factor in the return of a murder verdict.

Mrs. Elsie Harris, the mother, said at her home in Philadelphia that her daughter had written the letters, but that the wrong impression had been given by quotations from them. She told of an alleged attachment between Mrs. Dahl and Prof. Kane, but said it had ended. Her daughter believed in the innocence of the accused man and was prepared to stand by him in his trial, although now caught him to another man, the mother said.

Statements of Victim's Parents.

Conflicting with this claim of a harmless friendship and innocent correspondence were the statements of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Graham at the coroner's inquest.

Graham testified his daughter had told him she feared something might happen, "but I will die before this woman shall have him."

Graham told of a marriage relationship marked by the husband's alleged attachment to a woman named "Betty" with a last name something like "Dodd," who wrote "lots of letters that a married man should not receive."

"Many times," Mrs. Graham testified, "she wrote that she longed for him to get rid of his wife and to come before he went overseas."

Mrs. Graham also told of Mrs. Kane's effort to have her accompany the Kanes on the morning of the tragedy. "If I did not know why she didn't want to go, but she came pleading to ask me to go with them and I didn't understand," her statement said.

The coroner's report also contains the statement of Prof. Kane that his wife was drowned accidentally in spite of his frantic efforts to save and then to resuscitate her. He had, too, the testimony of his father, Dr. E. J. O'Neill Kane, noted Pennsylvania surgeon, who told of treating Mrs. Kane for a heart ailment and suggested that a heart attack might have led to her death.

To "Stand By" Prof. Kane.

Mrs. Harris told newspaper men at Philadelphia that Mrs. Dahl, a divorcee of about 40, would "stand by" Kane, and that contents of the letter would be interpreted at the trial.

Dr. Kane, Mrs. Harris said, was engaged to Mrs. Dahl "long before" the woman he is accused of drowning became his wife. Mrs. Dahl was a stewardess on the liner America when it docked Sept. 2, her mother said.

"My daughter is not still in love with Dr. Kane," Mrs. Harris said. "She thinks he is a very fine man and is broken up over this thing. She has said to me time and again she knows he did not drown his wife."

The engagement was broken, Mrs. Harris said, because Dr. Kane was "so changeable." She said her daughter now was engaged to another man.

LEOPOLD M. GUGGENHEIM WILL DISPOSES OF $300,000 ESTATE

The will of Leopold M. Guggenheim, disposing of an estate estimated at more than $300,000, was filed in Probate Court today.

It names his son, Dr. Louis K. Guggenheim, and Marion C. Early, an attorney, as executors and trustees and provides that they pay $50 a month from the income of the testator's sister, Mrs. Hattie Guggenheim, during her life, and $200 a month to his daughter, Mrs. Rose Winlow, New York, for life. The rest of the net income shall go to another daughter, Mrs. Selma Mayer, and Dr. Guggenheim, as to the son and Mrs. Mayer the trust expires within 15 years after their father's death at which they, if alive, they shall be entitled to their share of the principal.

Mr. Guggenheim lived at the Congress Hotel. He died Sept. 3.

Woman, Who Shot Self, Dies.

Mrs. Georgia Thibault, 32 years old, who shot herself in the head Sept. 3, died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville today. She shot herself two weeks after she and her husband, Michael, a miner, had been reconciled after a six-year estrangement. She told police and doctors she was "tired of living."

Three Flyers Rescued at Sea To Reach New York Friday

Aviators Who Were Missing Six Days and Nights Transferred From Belmoira to Ship Bound for U. S.

By the Associated Press.

S. S. STAVANGERFJORD, by Radio to the Associated Press, Sept. 22.—Willy Rody, Christian Johansen and Fernando Costa Vega, trans-Atlantic aviators who were picked up off the Norwegian coast by the motorship Belmoira, were taken aboard this vessel today and will arrive in New York Friday afternoon.

The transfer from the Belmoira was made at 10:30 a. m. Eastern standard time. In Lat. 48.05 north, Long. 49.28.

The position given is less than 200 miles off Cape Race, N. E. The Stavangerfjord is a Norwegian-American liner.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 22.—Willy Rody and Christian Johansen, Germans, and Fernando Costa Vega, Portuguese, who flew out of Portugal a week ago Sunday morning and had not been seen since the afternoon of Sept. 14, were taken from the wreckage of their plane yesterday by the crew of the Norwegian motor ship Belmoira, about 80 miles off Cape Pine on the Newfoundland coast. Wireless messages said they had been placed aboard the Belmoira. Vega was said to have an injured leg.

148 Hours at Sea.

In the absence of more information aviation circles were speculating as to what must have been the experiences during their 148 hours on the sea. When they left Portugal they had only a few sandwiches and three loaves of bread. The airman left a flying field near Lisbon early Sunday, Sept. 13, and were sighted over the Azores about noon. They swooped over the steamer Renland the following afternoon about 80 miles southwest of Cape Race and headed in the direction of New York, approximately 1000 miles to the south. They were not heard from again.

Their plane was a Junkers all-metal, once owned by Charles A. Levine, first trans-Atlantic air passenger, and a sister ship of the trans-ocean Bremen. It carried enough fuel for 48 hours in the air but had no radio. It was christened "The Honor of Rody's fiancée in Germany."

How Relatives Received News.

News of the rescue was received with a variety of emotions by friends and relatives in Germany and Denmark.

In Bad Ems, Rody's mother had all but given him up for dead and could only offer thanks to Providence. His sister, Anna, said "when the news came I nearly fainted." Frau Erna Gauenheim, his 24-year-old fiancée, "went for joy."

In Hamburg, Johansen's wife and 10-year-old son were overwhelmed by the news of his safety. A steady stream of visitors visited their little home to tender congratulations.

In Copenhagen, Johansen's mother refused to be amazed because she had believed all the time that his luck would pull him through. The message came just as his father was about to go to the hospital for an operation.

MAN BEATEN TO DEATH: WIFE TIED AND GAGGED

She Is Found in Georgia Woods — Tells of Attack by Negroes.

By the Associated Press.

PAIDURK, Ga., Sept. 22.—Charles M. Curran, 35 years old, an accountant of Jacksonville, Fla., was beaten to death on a lonely country road near here last night. His wife, Mrs. Romie Curran, 30, who was found bound and gagged near the body this morning, told authorities two Negroes killed Curran after robbing them and then tied her and left her in the forest.

Mrs. Curran said she and her husband left Atlanta late yesterday to search for her child by a former marriage who, she believed, was living with her former husband in the Fairburn district.

About 9 o'clock last night, as they proceeded along the road, she said, the Negroes halted them, ordered them from their automobile and robbed them. Then they set upon Curran, beat him, dragged him into a ditch nearby and then dragged her into the woods some distance from the automobile and departed.

Fox hunters attracted by her cries found Mrs. Curran about 11 p. m. She had succeeded in removing the gag from her mouth. She did not know her husband had been killed until the hunters cut her bonds and led her to the place where he lay.

Later she went back to the forest with the coroner and other authorities and re-enacted the attack. She said the Negroes took about $200.

She told her officers her former husband is Lucius Gaddis, a resident of this community, and said he disappeared about two years ago, taking their small daughter with him.

SWALLOWS OPEN SAFETY PIN

Two-Year-Old Child in Serious Condition at County Hospital.

Dorothy Mae, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Schaffol of Raeburn avenue, near Kirkwood, is in a serious condition at the County Hospital as a result of swallowing an open safety pin while playing at her home today.

An X-ray photograph showed the pin in her throat, but she began to cry and the pin was forced into the stomach. An operation will be avoided if possible, physicians said.

OPEN VERDICT IN FATAL SHOOTING OF STUDENT

Francis P. Hardaway Found Dead in Basement of Home of His Aunt.

An open verdict in the death of Francis P. Hardaway, 18-year-old Washington University student who shot and killed himself yesterday, was returned at a coroner's inquest today.

Deputy Coroner Hurley, who heard the evidence, first announced that a suicide verdict would be returned, but Coroner Dever, after conferring with the family, ruled that the death might have been either intentional or accidental.

Miss Harriet Lane Gates, 4335 Maryland avenue, an aunt of the youth with whom he lived, testified that he had gone to the basement of their home in preparation to going to the university to register.

On being called by a Negro maid, who heard the shot, Miss Gates said that she went to the basement and found her nephew seated against his locked trunk with the revolver nearby. A bullet had penetrated his left temple.

Miss Gates said that the young man, a son of Maj. Francis P. Hardaway, Fort Randolph, Canal Zone, had come to St. Louis from Panama two days ago to take up his second year's work as a pre-medical student. She said that he had been in good spirits and had never mentioned suicide.

ESTATE OF WILLIAM MODRA INVENTORIED AT $58,000

Laclede Brass Works President Makes Specific Bequests of $14,000; Leaves Rest to Nine Heirs.

The inventory of the estate of William Modra, president of Laclede Brass Works, who died Aug. 14, was filed in Probate Court today, listing real estate and personal property of a total valuation of $58,230.

Mrs. Modra, who lived at 3438 Pestalozzi street, bequeathed $5000 life insurance to Miss Margaret Boyle and directed that the executors shall invest this money in bonds so the beneficiary may not be troubled about making investments. In reference to Miss Boyle, the will states she and the testator were close friends for many years but that no engagement to marry existed between them.

After disposing of $2500 in other specific bequests, the will provides that the balance of the estate shall be divided among Miss Boyle, Mrs. Josephine Drebing, Mrs. Irene Vanecek, Mrs. Annie Mikosick, Joseph Volta, Miss Carrie Volta, Mrs. Annie May, Masonic Home of Missouri and Pythian Home at Springfield, Mo.

Charles C. Horn and William A. Roebke are named as executors.

Gagged, Tied; Robbed of $112.

Theodore Steppig, a retired widower who lives alone near Millstadt, Ill., reported to St. Clair County authorities three men ransacked his house about 3 a. m. today and fled with $112 after gagging him and tying a sheet about him.

Shelton already has been suspended from the pulpit of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church in Washington pending the trial. He was assigned to this pastorate a few months ago, coming from Emory University, Ga., where for 16 years he had been professor of Hebrew. Before that he was pastor in Oklahoma.

He is a graduate of Yale University, fellow of the Royal Geographic Society of Great Britain, and member of many scientific groups. He was one of the University of Chicago's Archeological expedition to Egypt in 1920.

FOUND SHOT DEAD

ST. LOUIS WOMAN DROWNED IN RIVER NEAR SACRAMENTO

Mrs. Velma Morehouse Left for California Six Weeks Ago; Relatives Live Here.

Mrs. Velma Morehouse, 24 years old, 1602 North Market street, was drowned Saturday while swimming in the American River near Sacramento, Cal.

The body was identified yesterday by Mrs. Ida M. Chamberlain of Sacramento, a sister of Mrs. Morehouse. Details of the drowning were not contained in the report of the identification received here.

At the North Market street address, where Mrs. Morehouse lived with her husband, Fred, and mother, Mrs. H. C. Clark, it was stated that Mrs. Morehouse left home six weeks ago, and had not been heard from since. Mrs. Morehouse, an unemployed laborer, said he believed his wife had hitch-hiked to California to visit her sister. Burial will be at Sacramento.

Riverview Drive Open.

Riverview drive, which is being paved with concrete between Broadway and Chain of Rocks, is open to traffic. A 20-foot concrete strip is being laid on the east half of the street, while the old macadam on the west half continues to provide room for two lanes of traffic. When the new concrete is finished, a second 20-foot strip will be laid on the west side.

BOY, 13, GIRL, 3, ARE KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTOS

Violet Neuroth Run Over by Machine in Yard at 5843 Easton Av., on Her Way to Buy Candy.

A 13-year-old Boy Scout, on his way home from school, and a 3-year-old girl, going to buy candy, were killed by automobiles yesterday.

Violet Neuroth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neuroth, 5216 Helen avenue, Wellston, was killed at 1:30 p. m. when struck by an automobile in the yard of the St. Louis Brake Service Co., 5843 Easton avenue. She had been visiting at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Marian Reid, 5853 Easton avenue, and, receiving several pennies, was on her way to a nearby confectionery for candy.

Virgil Smith, 5746 Wabasha avenue, an employee of the brake service company, started up a machine on which he was testing the brakes, and failed to see the child crossing the yard. The automobile struck Violet, a wheel passing over her body. She was pronounced dead at DePaul Hospital.

William Kunz Jr., on the way to his home, 1908 Arsenal street, from Fremont School at noon, was struck at Arsenal street and Lemp avenue by a machine driven by Robert J. DeLaney, a machinist, 2869A Missouri avenue. He died several hours later at City Hospital of a skull fracture. DeLaney told police the boy stepped in the path of the machine. William was a member of Boy Scout Troop 214.

5 PERSONS KILLED BY HEAVY STORMS IN THE SOUTHWEST

Three of Deaths Caused by Lightning in Western Oklahoma—Abnormal Heat Wave Broken.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 22.—Wind and electrical storms resulted in five deaths and an undetermined amount of property damage in scattered sections of the Southwest late yesterday.

The disturbances, coming in the wake of heavy rains which broke an abnormal heat wave and drouth, appeared in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

Three of the deaths were caused by lightning which struck during a severe electrical storm over Western Oklahoma. The victims were Oscar Bond, 35 years old, and Elmer Patterson, 15, who were working at a wheat granary near Weatherford, and Leonard Sawatzky, 17, who was herding cattle near Clinton.

A windstorm accounted for two deaths in Southeastern Kansas. Clinton McKickle, a farmer, was injured fatally when caught under a falling tree, and James Holt, 17-year-old Oswego High School student, was killed by a piece of flying timber.

Two Missouri U. Students Hurt, $10,000 Damage to Buildings.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 22.—A severe windstorm swept a section of South Columbia last night, causing damage estimated at about $10,000 to University of Missouri buildings. Two students at the university were injured, neither seriously. The storm disrupted telephone and electric service for a time. Trees and shrubs on the campus and nearby lawns were damaged.

A severe rain and electrical storm swept Mexico last night. Lightning struck several electrical circuits, plunging the city into darkness for a time.

Coming out of the southwest, the wind, which reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour for a one-minute period, according to the Federal Weather Bureau here, first hit Jesse Hall, the university administrative building, and then struck Swallow Hall, the geology building. One turret on Swallow Hall was leveled, and the other, badly cracked, may have to be torn down and replaced. The storm disrupted telephone and electric service for a time.

On Jesse Hall a balustrade was torn loose, and part of the roofing was picked up and blown east of the building and much damage was caused by rain, which totaled 1.25 inches from 7 to 10 o'clock.

Storms in Iowa and Wisconsin: One Man Killed.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—One man was killed and several were injured in storms in Iowa and Wisconsin yesterday. Hugh Whitford, who resided two miles north of Milton Junction, Wis., was killed when he and his mother attempted to get into the basement of their home to escape the wind. His mother was injured. Four other persons near Milton Junction were injured. Considerable property damage was done.

Iowa was the scene of two tornadoes. One of them, which swept across 10 farms between Anaworth and Crawfordville, 10 miles southeast of Washington, in the southeastern part of the State, caused property damage estimated at $100,000. One woman was injured. Two wagonloads of school children were in the path of the storm, but the driver of one unloaded his group before the wind struck. The other took refuge in a shed, which was unroofed without harm to the children.

At Fairfield, Ia., another tornado damaged farm buildings, but none was killed or injured.

Heavy Damage at Pittsfield, Ill.: Top Blown from Water Tower.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSFIELD, Ill., Sept. 22.—Pittsfield was struck by a wind and rainstorm last night that did heavy damage. The wind uprooted trees, unroofed buildings and damaged homes. The covering on the city water tower was picked up and hurled to the street, and at one home, the garage was carried away, leaving the automobile standing.

SUPREME COURT TO BE ASKED TO OPEN DOG TRACK

Madison Kennel Club to Seek Writ Similar to One Granted in Chicago Case.

With the grant of an injunction by an Illinois supreme court Justice restraining Cook County authorities from interfering with greyhound races at the Thornton dog track at Homewood, which will reopen tonight, officials of the Madison Kennel Club, across the river, are proceeding in an effort to reopen their track under similar procedure.

Edward J. O'Hare, president of the International Greyhound Racing Association and counsel for the Madison Kennel Club, announced he would go before Circuit Judge James Brown at Chicago today and seek a final decree in the action that recently closed the track, so that the case can be taken up to the supreme court.

The injunction under which a Cook County track will reopen tonight was granted yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Clyde E. Stone at Peoria. His order sets aside the recent ruling of Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg at Chicago and continues in force an injunction previously granted by Circuit Judge William Brothers at Chicago, which enjoined the State's Attorney of Cook County from raiding the track at Homewood.

In the meantime, a special grand jury at Edwardsville continues its investigation of gambling in Madison County, particularly as it was carried on under the paramutual system at the Madison track, recently closed by injunction, following a crusade against gambling by Circuit Judges Bernreuter and Miller in controversy with Circuit Judge Brown.

AUTHOR EXPLAINS COLLAPSE OF ADVERTISING BUSINESS

Carlyle Emery Tells Bankruptcy Referee Cost of Obtaining Contracts Was Prohibitive.

When Carlyle Emery, writer of children's stories, needed money to carry on the business of the Emery Advertising Co., friends lent him $6000, he told Referee in Bankruptcy Coles yesterday, on the condition that he repay them with profits from his writings.

The advertising company collapsed last April with liabilities of $23,453 and assets of $11,926. The cost of obtaining advertising contracts, Emery explained, were prohibitive and he paid four salesmen and copy-writers $300 a month each. He did not draw his own salary, fixed at $12,000 a year, for several months prior to the company's collapse, he said.

In one instance, he related, he was assured of a $60,000 contract on condition he give employment to a certain man. He hired the man and devoted several months to preparation of an advertising campaign only to have the company merge with another which lost interest in employe and contract.

Emery has been connected with various advertising agencies and at one time was advertising manager for a St. Louis shoe manufacturing company. Asked by Referee Coles if he were still in the advertising business, Emery responded: "I'm a writer and I'm devoting myself to writing now."

MOTORIST HELD FOR FATALITY

Coroner's Jury Returns Homicide Verdict in Death of Child.

David McLaurin, a Negro, was ordered held for the grand jury following a coroner's verdict of homicide today in the death Sunday of Warren Matilla, 10-year-old Negro girl of 2924 Gamble street, from a fractured skull suffered Friday when struck near her home by a car driven by McLaurin.

Testimony was that McLaurin was driving at high speed and appeared to be intoxicated. He did not testify. He told police he was employed as a houseman at 7132 Delmar boulevard.

Double Murder and Suicide.
By the Associated Press.
BROOKS, Ala., Sept. 22.—Double murder and suicide was the finding reached by police today in investigation into discovery of three bodies in a burned dwelling at Rainier, 13 miles south of here, early today.

Investigation disclosed that Fred Leike, railway employe, had slain his housekeeper, Mrs. Elizabeth Irwin, and her two-year-old daughter Kathie, set fire to his home and then shot himself to death. Police learned Leike and the housekeeper had quarreled.

ESTELLE TAYLOR CHALLENGES DEMPSEY'S NEVADA DIVORCE

Says He Was Unsportsmanlike to Get Reno Order; Seeks California Decree.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Estelle Taylor maintains she is still Mrs. Jack Dempsey.

Although the former heavyweight boxing champion of the world obtained a divorce from her at Reno, Nev., yesterday, she said she would not recognize it and accused Dempsey of "poor sportsmanship."

"Jack may feel very free at this moment," she said yesterday, "but until the California courts, where we both maintain our residences, declare me free, I shall still call myself Mrs. Jack Dempsey."

At the divorce hearing in Reno yesterday, Dempsey testified that his wife's motion picture and stage career had broken up their marriage.

Dempsey on Stand at Reno Divorce Hearing.

By the Associated Press.
RENO, Nev., Sept. 22.—Jack Dempsey got a Reno divorce from Estelle Taylor without a contest yesterday. A default decree was granted by Judge Thomas F. Morgan at the conclusion of a private hearing at which Dempsey took the witness stand for about 20 minutes.

At the hearing it was indicated counsel for Dempsey laid the groundwork for an attack on the jurisdiction of the California courts by establishing Dempsey's legal residence in Nevada under the six weeks' divorce law.

His job is to see that you get your money's worth

JOE LARSEN, telephone repairman, climbs a telephone pole in the alley behind your house to replace a broken insulator.

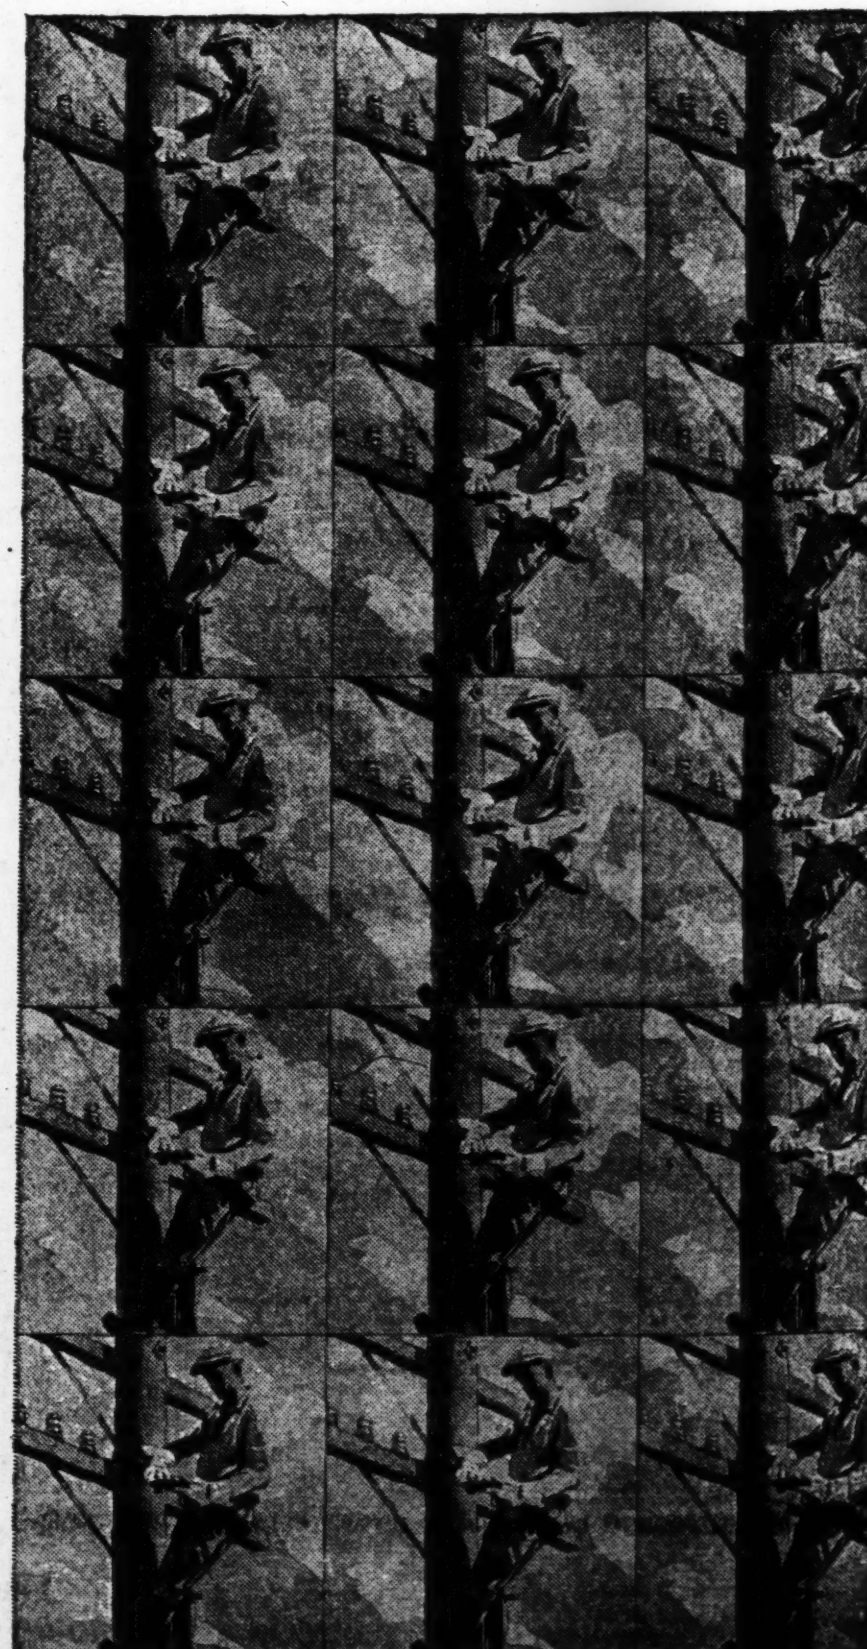

"Service might go bad," he explains, "so I'll fix it now."

That's "preventive maintenance" . . . repairing telephone troubles before they happen. It's part of the job of 7,000 telephone men who throughout the Southwest, work with Joe Larsen to keep telephone lines in top condition.

They know that in order for you to go to your telephone and, in pleasure or emergency, reach friend, neighbor, business associate, your telephone line must be in constant repair.

They know that small repairs, made now, save big repairs . . . and big repair bills . . . later.

"Preventive maintenance" is a part of their effort to give you the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost to you.

"Watch your step, Bill, here come the Bride's Biscuits"

A titter ran around the table as Clara's stage-whisper reached my ears. For an instant, I hesitated—and then smiled. I knew it would soon be my turn to laugh.

Of course, Clara and I have never been really good friends. That was probably Jack's fault. But I thought our rivalry was all over when Jack and I were married six months ago. Otherwise, I certainly wouldn't have invited Clara to the house that night.

Everything was lovely until we sat down to eat. As I came into the dining room with a tray in my hands, I heard Clara's stage-whisper to the boy on her left—"Watch your step, Bill, here comes the Bride's Biscuits."

For an instant I hesitated—and then smiled. I knew it would soon be my turn to laugh. And Bill helped me a lot! With an exaggerated air of resignation, he picked up one of the biscuits I'd baked, spread a little butter on it and took one bite. And then you should have heard him!

"Bring on more of those Bride's Biscuits," he shouted. "And keep on bringing them. They're even better than those that Mother used to bake."

Tune in on radio station WREN, owned and operated by the Jenny Wren Company. 1220 kilocycles—243.9 meters.

From then on you should have seen that crowd. They sampled my biscuits—and ate every one. They made the muffins, the shortcake, the doughnuts and pies disappear in no time at all. Finally Bill leaned back and said: "If I ever get married, I hope the lucky girl can bake like that." And of course all the girls wanted to know my secret.

"Nothing but Jenny Wren," I told them. "And what's Jenny Wren," they asked.

"Why Jenny Wren is that new-day flour that makes good baking quick, easy and sure. It makes every woman a baking expert because all the hard-to-mix dry ingredients are blended into it in the exact proportions necessary for perfect results.

"You do not add baking powder, salt, soda, yeast or any other leavening agent. You take no chances on inaccurate measurements or omissions. It's just one—two—three—and the work's all done."

Suppose you get a package of Jenny Wren and see for yourself. Your grocer sells it under the Jenny Wren guarantee of complete satisfaction or your money back.

Your grocer has another pleasant surprise for you JENNY WREN WHEAT CENTERS that delicious new breakfast dish in the big 32-oz. package.

MELLON FIRM LOSES SUIT OVER PATENTS

Claim of Aluminum Co. of America to Royalties From St. Louis Concern Rejected.

Federal Judge Paris has decided that the Aluminum Co. of America, a Pittsburgh (Pa.) firm controlled by the Mellon interests, is not entitled to enforce patent rights on piston-casting devices, against the Sterling Products Corporation, 2916 North Market street, St. Louis.

Five patents were involved in the suit, in which an injunction and an accounting were asked for. Judge Paris' decision says: "It is difficult to invent a thing already invented," and that the Aluminum Co.'s claim is based on "mere mechanical art, as contradistinguished from originality on which a patent might be bottomed."

The Aluminum Co. operated under the patents, obtained 11 years ago, charging other manufacturers a royalty of 1 cent on each automobile piston made, until the Sterling Co. of St. Louis began operating on patents obtained by it in 1925, and refused to pay royalty. The Aluminum Co.'s royalties are said to have amounted to several hundred thousand dollars.

"The merest glance at the prior art," Judge Paris says in his decision, "shows that all the constituent elements in the patents are old. Some of them even go back to the dawn of history, that is, the two-shell mold form. The most familiar example is the old bullet-mold of the pioneers, though the homely waffle-iron may demand likewise its place in the art."

"The law is settled that the old is as open to one person as to another. However, when such one first picks and chooses certain elements from the prior art, and so combines them in a machine that a new result, or an old result, is brought about, no one else, the combiner having secured a patent, may combine and use the same elements in the same way, to produce substantially the same result. But anyone else may use any part of such old elements, or their equivalents, so long as he does not infract the several verities of identity." The court then states rules of equivalency, from court decisions.

"Unnecessary difficulty is put on the courts," Judge Paris says, "by the present practice in the patent law. One solicitor may, for example, describe the old Barlow knife in language which so differs from that of another that both get patents for the identical thing."

"I think it is settled law, and if not it ought to be, that no patent can be got for an article of either nature or manufacture, already in existence. For example, I opine that cotton or silk, as an article of manufacture, could not be patented, because nature has already made the one, and the lowly worm the other; nor that an automobile could now be patented as an article of manufacture, because Ford, among others, has already, it is rumored, made them."

The decision states that aluminum-copper alloy pistons were made in Indianapolis and in Birmingham, England, before the Mellon concern got its patents.

ARRESTED HORN-TOOTER SAYS HE FOUND CORNET IN ASPHIT

But Amateur Musician Identifies Instrument as One Stolen From His Home.

An unkempt middle-aged Negro, tooting discordantly on a cornet at Twelfth and Biddle streets yesterday afternoon, attracted the attention of Police Sergeant Davis.

"Nice new horn, where did you get it?" inquired the officer.

"Found it in an asphit," responded the musician, taking a deep breath and starting a new tune.

Recalling that earlier in the day Zeferrino Cadile, professional bondman and amateur musician, reported that his $50 cornet had been stolen from his home, 719 Biddle street, Sgt. Davis took the Negro to Carr Street Station. Cadile, summoned by Davis, identified the instrument through markings.

The Negro, who is held, described himself as James Miems, 41, no home or occupation.

IOWA CORN PLAN REJECTED

Federal Farm Board Declined to Finance With Holding of Crop.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Gov. Turner of Iowa and a committee of farmers, bankers and farm organization leaders today turned to Gov. Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board for financial assistance in stabilizing corn prices.

Turner's plan of withholding corn on farms through State-wide organization of producers until the price reaches 60 cents was rejected yesterday by the Farm Board. The Iowans had hoped to obtain financing for its proposal from the board. Instead, Turner said, the board suggested a substitute plan which it proposed to submit to the delegation later. Its details were made public, but it was intimated that it involved handling of the present corn crop through existing co-operatives.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Germans were reported today by the Census Bureau to form the largest racial group of the 38,727,592 total foreign white stock of the United States. They accounted for 6,873,103, or 17.7 per cent.

Italy was second with 4,546,875, while the Irish Free State accounted for 3,085,522; Russia, 2,693,835; England, 2,522,261; Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, 1,832,257, and Canada, 1,337,345. Persons born at sea added 10,270 to the total.

Foreign-born whites totaled 13,266,407, against native whites of foreign or mixed parentage numbering 26,361,186.

Italy supplied the largest number of foreign born, 1,790,422, or 13.4 per cent; Germany, 1,608,814, and Russia, 1,153,624.

$100,000 FRAUD FRUSTRATED

Fake Warrants on County Funds Flashed at Oklahoma City.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Sept. 22.—Lewis R. Morris, Oklahoma County Attorney, said yesterday a plot to issue $100,000 in forged warrants on county funds had been frustrated through the arrest of three men in other forgery cases. James London and J. B. Briesse, charged with forgery in the cashing of an American Bankers' Association check, allegedly part of the loot taken in a Greenview (Ill.) bank robbery, and G. C. Durkey were the men arrested. Officers said Durkey possessed checks bearing the forged name of John C. Head, attorney and oil man.

France to File in North Dakota.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 22.—Joseph I. France, former United States Senator from Maryland, yesterday said he would file his name as a candidate in the North Dakota Republican primary election next March. He said his campaign would be based on criticism of the Republican party for lack of leadership and on "quick repeal" of the prohibition amendment as "the only way to cure gangsterism."

WOMAN, DETAINED IN SHOOTING, FREED

Mrs. Mills Says Henry Gard Killed Himself When Driving With Her.

Mrs. Laura Mills, 40-year-old divorcee whom a Coroner's jury recommended be held as a witness in the fatal shooting early yesterday of Henry Gard, service car driver, was released yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Mills, at whose University City home at 6282 North drive, Gard was a roomer, testified Gard shot himself in the temple, after he had threatened to drive his automobile into a telephone pole and kill her and himself.

She was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Lindsey as she drove away in Gard's automobile leaving him fatally wounded, on Olive Street road near Elmwood avenue. She explained at the inquest that she intended to report the shooting to the University City police.

After the inquest the Sheriff's office asked what action was to be taken to hold her. Associate Prosecuting Attorney Noble replied that there was no witness to the shooting and there was no alternative but to release her.

Meanwhile, an investigation is to be made in the case. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of homicide "at the hands of parties unknown" and recommended that Mrs. Mills be held as a witness for the grand jury. Noble said today he did not know whether the case would reach a grand jury.

Gard, 47 years old, had been a roomer at Mrs. Mills' home for a year. For the past month he had been drinking heavily, she said, and was drunk when they went for the ride on which he is said to have shot himself.

BOY SAYS HE KILLED MAN

AND THEN WENT TO CHURCH
Indiana High School Student, 15, Confesses Slaying in Oil Station Robbery.

CROWN POINT, Ind., Sept. 22.—A 15-year-old high school student, Perry Swank Jr., confessed last night, Sheriff Roy Holly said, that he killed a former town marshal of Lowell, Ind., and then went to church.

Eugene Duckworth, who for 20 years was a marshal but who lately ran an oil filling station on the outskirts of Lowell, was shot to death last Sunday evening in a robbery.

Swank, a sophomore of Creston, Ind., was quoted by the Sheriff as saying he had "a little kick out of that murder." He said at first that he killed Duckworth to get money for school books, but later changed his story to say that he wished to run away from home.

"I wouldn't have shot, but he lunged at me to get my gun," Swank said, according to the Sheriff. "I took $40 in bills from his pocket, locked up the filling station, turned out the lights and went home." Then he went to church.

A girl told the Sheriff that she had seen Swank leaving the oil station alone. The Sheriff then went to the boy's home and arrested him.

The boy's teachers described him as an average student.

SEVEN BUILDINGS DAMAGED IN FIRE AT WENTZVILLE, MO.

Losses Thought to have Started in Oil Warehouse; Damage $40,000.

Fire at Wentzville, Mo., last night did about $40,000 damage to seven buildings, two of them oil company warehouses, but was controlled by volunteer firemen before it reached the central business district which for several hours was jeopardized. Wentzville is 23 miles northwest of St. Louis.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, was discovered about 8:40 p. m. It is thought to have started in one of the oil warehouses owned by the National Refining Co. or the St. Clair Refining Co., one-story frame structures. The flames spread quickly to similar buildings occupied by the Goures Hardware Co., the Pittman Undertaking Co., the Parr Garage, the Wentzville Monument Works, and a one-story brick building of the Wentzville Union, a newspaper.

Combined efforts of volunteer fire departments from Wentzville, St. Peters, Warrenton, Wright City, Troy and O'Fallon had the fire under control about 10 p. m. One volunteer fireman, Leonard Williams, was cut by flying glass, and George Eddens and Carl Boschere were thrown from a nearby roof and slightly stunned when a gasoline tank exploded. The tank was thrown nearly 50 feet in the air, observers said.

TO ABANDON SEDALIA TROLLEYS

Traction Committee Seeks to Substitute Buses.
By the Associated Press.
SEDFORD, Mo., Sept. 22.—The City Light and Traction Co. of Sedalia, owned by the Cities Service Co., today filed application with the State Public Service Commission for authority to abandon its street railway system and substitute bus service. Such a program has been agreed to by the city administration of Sedalia, said the application.

Operating revenues have suffered a general decline in the last few years, continued the application. For the year ending Aug. 31, this year, the gross revenue was $13,753 while operating expenses were $15,535, entailing an operating deficit of $1,782.

"Take a squint at this Ball and Bottle Test...you can SEE that New Iso-Vis Stands Up"

RESULTS of Indianapolis Speedway Tests, Certified by A. A. A.

- 1 Iso-Vis Motor Oil did not thin out from dilution.
- 2 During the entire test of 9,000 miles, the engines and chassis of all cars were lubricated effectively.
- 3 Oil Added: only 63/100 of a quart—
average for all cars—of Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy) in 1,000 mile test at 30 miles per hour.

WATCH FOR THE ISO-VIS TEST CARS

15 Iso-Vis test cars used at Indianapolis Speedway in intensive lubrication study conducted by A. A. A. are now on individual tours to auto dealers from Michigan to Montana. Watch for them.

The more body an oil has, the slower the ball drops. Note that used New Iso-Vis (Tube 2) has practically the same body as the fresh oil (Tube 1), while used "x" oil (Tube 3) has thinned out decidedly.

"If you want the low down on a motor oil these little steel balls certainly give it to you. Maybe they'll hand you a jolt like they did me.

"I thought I knew something about motor oils, but this test changed my mind mighty quick. From now on I'm for New Iso-Vis—first, last and all the time."

You, too, will be for New Iso-Vis first,

HOT SPRINGS VALLEY IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Party of Explorers Led to the Spot by Indian Guide.

By the Associated Press.

EDMONTON, Alberta, Sept. 22.—
Back from a 1000-mile trip to Northern British Columbia, Dr. J.
Norman Henry and party of Philadelphia told yesterday of having explored a warm valley, reports of which had lured the party to the remote region.

Any beliefs that the valley was mythical were exploded by Dr.
Henry, a retired Philadelphia physician and former college mate of Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways.

For two days the party camped in the valley, he said. They found it was three-quarters of a mile long and honeycombed with hot springs.
They bathed in the craters and springs and found in some spots the water was too hot for human beings to stand.

"There were boiling springs all through the valley," Henry said.
"Even the ground was heated in many spots and we were told by Indians that during a temperature of 50 below zero water does not freeze in the valley."

Despite a bad fire which had swept through the valley and destroyed much of the plant life, some good specimens were obtained.

The valley is in the mountains near the junction of the Racing and Toad Rivers, about 400 miles northwest of Fort St. John. An Indian guide named Charlie Mc-Donald, member of the Grand Lake tribe, was credited by Dr.
Henry with leading the party to the valley.

The party left here for the North on June 29. It returned last Saturday.

CHIEF DISMISSES CHARGE AGAINST MOTOR CYCLE COP

Policeman C. R. Schumacher Had Been Accused of Careless Driving in Collision.

Chief of Police Gerk told reporters yesterday that he had ordered a charge of careless driving withdrawn against Motor Cycle Policeman Clifford R. Schumacher, whose motor cycle collided with an automobile driven by Ralph Giessow, an attorney, at Hamilton avenue and Delmar boulevard last June.

In Police Court last week Giessow complained that a cross-charge
he had made against Schumacher, after the officer arrested him for careless driving, was not on the docket. He testified the motor cycle struck the rear of his machine while he made a boulevard stop.

Chief Gerk explained that he had ordered the cross-charge withdrawn because no one was injured, and the collision occurred while Schumacher was performing police duty. Gerk said he advised Giessow to take his complaint to the City Counselor and obtain a summons for the officer if he insisted on pressing the cross-charge. The case against Giesow was continued to Oct. 23.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE PASSES BILL TO CUT COTTON-CROP

Measure Which Governor Aims to Reduce Planting 50 Per Cent.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 22.—The Texas Legislature enacted a cotton acreage reduction bill late yesterday designed to effect a 50 per cent curtailment in the State's cotton plantings in 1932 and 1933.

Gov. Sterling signed the bill today.
Each farmer would be prohibited from planting to cotton next year more than 30 per cent of the land he cultivated in all crops this year. The same percentage basis would apply in 1933 with the additional provision that no 1932 cotton land could be planted to cotton in 1933.

After 1933 there would be no percentage limit but no land could be planted to cotton in successive years. The bill, a compromise measure, was adopted 19 to 10 by the Senate and 80 to 32 by the House.

TWO CONVICTED OF KIDNAPING 5-YEAR-OLD BOY IN DETROIT

Third Man in Plot Under Long Sentence Testified Against His Former Companions.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 22.—Vincent Lamonna and Charles Min-chella were found guilty on the charge of kidnaping Jackie Thompson, 5-year-old son of a wealthy Detroit real estate operator, by a jury in Recorder's Court last night.
Jackie was kidnaped in September, 1929, and a month later was returned to his parents after his father, Henry Thompson, paid the kidnapers $17,000 ransom. James Fernando, a used car dealer who was acquainted with Thompson, subsequently was convicted of kidnaping Jackie and is serving a 30 to 50 year sentence. Fernando testified against Lamonna and Min-chella.

The pair are to be sentenced next Monday by Recorder's Judge W.
McKay Skillman.

Unidentified Man Dies in Street.
An unidentified man, about 42 years old, died suddenly while walking in front of 612 Walnut street at 8 o'clock last night. The man was 5 feet 8 inches tall and wore a blue suit and a gray soft hat. His clothing contained 46 cents and eyeless, but no marks of identification. The body is at the morgue.

16 MEN TAKEN IN RAID ON HOTEL DICE GAME

Three of Six Pairs of Cubes Loaded, Police Assert.

Three sharp knocks on the door of room 435 at the Atlantic Hotel, Fifteenth and Pine streets, accompanied by an "O. K. Tom," admitted Detective Henry Walk of the police gambling squad, to a lively dice game last night.

Detective-Sergeant Shelton and the other members of the squad walked in, too, and a short time later 14 men, who had been shooting dice on a billiard table in an adjoining room, and the two alleged operators of the game were on their way to headquarters in a patrol wagon.

The "Tom," who admitted Detective Walk is described by police at Thomas Rowe, 45, a clerk, 4200A Maryland avenue. The 16 prisoners gave bond to answer any charge which may be placed against them.

The room in which the game was in progress adjoined the entrance room. The floors had been padded with felt in an attempt at sound-proofing. In addition to the billiard table, there were five small tables, chairs, chips, two telephones and six pairs of dice. Detectives reported that three sets of the dice are what is known as "lopa," or loaded dice—a fact that may be enlightening to some of the players.

WILKINS TOLD TO DELIVER

NAUTILUS TO AMERICAN PORT
Order Sent by Shipping Board Through Which He Leased Craft at One Dollar a Year.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Sir
Hubert Wilkins has been informed by the Shipping Board that he must deliver his submarine Nautilus to a United States North Atlantic port.

Wilkins leased the discarded navy craft through the Shipping Board for one dollar a year. He had asked what must be done with the vessel after examination at Ono led some to say it was too dilapidated to cross the Atlantic.
By the Associated Press.
NORTH SHIELDS, England, Sept.
22.—Twelve members of the crew of the submarine Nautilus arrived here today from Bergen aboard the steamer Venus. They enquired for London, whence they will go to New York.

WANTS CONGRESS' PAY CUT

Representative Treadway Urges Reduction of $2000.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSFIELD, Mass., Sept. 22.— Congressman Allen T. Treadway of Stockbridge (Rep.), today advocated a reduction of $2000 in the annual salaries of members of Congress as evidence of their willingness to aid the country during the present depression.

Treadway, who is the ranking member of the House Ways and Means Committee, said he would introduce a resolution in Congress in December to carry out this plan.
He will also recommend a temporary increase in the surtax rates on individual incomes in the upper brackets as a means of balancing the national budget.

ARGUMENT AGAINST SALES TAX

Scheme Is Burden on Poor, Says
Indiana U. Professor.

By the Associated Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 22.—An argument against sale taxes was made by Prof. George W. Starr of Indiana University in addressing the 1931 convention of the National Exchange Club today.

"The sales taxes," Starr said,
"do not yield a great deal of revenue unless they cover practically all commodities, including the necessities of life. For the reason that the greater part of the earnings of the poor man go into the commodities of life, sales taxes place a relatively greater burden upon the poor."

FARMER'S WIFE HANGS SELF

Body of Mrs. Sophia Guehring Found in Barn.

Mrs. Sophia Guehring, 63 years old, was found dead today, hanging from a rafter of a barn on Lemay
Perry road at Melville, St. Louis County.

Her husband, Julius Guehring, a farmer, found the body at 8 o'clock, a half hour after Mrs. Guehring had left the house. She had been under treatment for a nervous disorder. Besides her husband, two sons and two daughters survive.

VETERAN CIRCUS WOMAN DIES

Hortense Codona One of First of Ex on Flying Trapeze.

By the Associated Press.
LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 22.— Mrs. Hortense Codona, 62 years old, one of the first women to work on the flying trapeze in a circus, died from a heart attack here yesterday.
Mrs. Codona was the mother of Alfredo Codona, present-day trapeze star, who was the husband of Lillian Lestel, killed last February in a fall during a performance at Copenhagen. Mrs. Codona married Edward Codona, circus owner, in Panama when she was 14 years old.

Poor-color complexion, sallow skin and facial blemishes are due to acid-alkali imbalances. Doctors treat acid inside the body with milk of magnesia. And now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing complexion faults with creamed magnesia. All you do is anoint your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. It's as simple as washing your face.

It reduces enlarged pores to the finest,
smoothes texture, brings brightness, it drives away the tell-tale signs of age. Any woman can look her loveliest with creamed magnesia because it protects the skin from the harmful acids that ruin her complexion.

To get creamed magnesia, ask your druggist for Denton's Facial Alkaline. The dollar size contains twice as much as the 50-cent size.

EXANDER'S TEAM DEFEATS MILWAUKEE NINE UNDER LIGHTS MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 22.—Over Cleveland Alexander's House David nine defeated the Milwaukee All-Stars under the lights on Monday night, 10 to 8, in a game which was stopped by rain at the end of the eighth inning. A crowd of 4000 turned out to see the blacked tribe, which will play Star Park at St. Louis this week end. Alexander, who will be in the St. Louis game, has offered a berth with an American club for next season but he probably remain with the Ben- Harbor nine, which pays him a month.

A Special Correspondent of the BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The Browns, the leading home scoreless for eight times, hammered Milton Gaston, St. Louis, and aided by errors, piled up five runs for a victory over the Red Sox afternoon. It was the last series of the season.

Gaston had the upper hand over Blanchard in the first inning, traveling along on a lead ball, and in the opening inning. At the start, Rothrock led, Kress misused on Olson's rolling, and Webb and Oliver singled and scored.

Olson scored on the ninth.
Browns hit only the first five.
But Melillo singled off Gaston's glove, Bettencourt singled to center and Perrell, batting for Gaston, singled when Stump-er tried to make a short-stop catch.
Here Manager Killinger sent in Munro to bat for Levey and Mc-Carty to run for Gaston. Stanley attempted to sacrifice, but Gaston threw the ball into right field.
It was not enough, Webb stepped into the grandstand, but three runs were in and Stanley was perched on third. Grimes was in to run for him and Gaston was way to Willy Moore. Blacholder was an infield out, but he singled through short, went second on Burns' infield out and scored the last run of the game on Melillo's short into right field.
In the Sox half, Blanchard kept well in hand by fanning Munro and forcing Rhyme to strike out. Sweeney and Rhyme, pinchhitters, both hit singles, but Blacholder ended the game by throwing out Rothrock.
The Browns made the early game for home and the benefit of the game having been starting for this purpose.
Tom Oliver, Red Sox center fielder, pulled some muscles in his right arm when he slid into second base in the first inning. He was carried to the field and may be out of the game for a day or two.

"Daily Double" Pays $1015.72 at Fairmount

One Long Hop and Oaten, Long Shots,
In Combination

By Damon Kerby.

FAIRMOUNT RACE TRACK, Sept. 22.—When One Long Hop, Oaten, and two long shots, won the second and third races respectively, here this afternoon, the "Daily Double," the betting pool on these two races, paid $1015.72, the largest refund at the meeting thus far. Only six persons held the combination.

H. C. Groover, a St. Louis insurance broker who lives at 78 Arundel place, Clayton, was among the six who held a winning ticket. Two Edwardville residents, Miss George Lusk and W. J. Smith, jointly collected on another.

A man appeared at the pay-off window with a winning ticket, and was paid off. He declined to give his name, and a check was made out by Fairmount officials to cash.
All six of the winning daily double tickets were cashed at the track.
A check was made out to L. B.
Case, who did not further identify himself to track officials. Other winners did not disclose their names.

A total of 3259 tickets were sold on the "daily double."
The longest shot of the meeting to date came through in the second race when One Long Hop, four-old brown colt, owned by Mrs.
E. L. Swickard, drew away from the Roll 'Em Down, a field horse, to win by two and a half lengths and pay $53.74 for a $2 ticket in the betting. Marabou, favorite in the betting, was third by a length.
Time for the six furlongs was 1:14 1/5.

Joan K., four-year-old bay filly by Midway-Sweet Liberty, proved to be the winner in the first race, finishing about three lengths ahead of her sister with Ethel Gallagher third by half a length. The time was 1:14 and the winner, well backed in the betting, paid $5.28 for a $2 ticket in the mutuels.

Oaten won the third race, at a mile for three-year-olds and upward. Angelena was second by a neck and Crushed Stone was a close third. The time was 1:40, and the winner, an outsider, paid $26.14 for a $2 mutual ticket.

The race was marred by an accident when Jockey was jelling, stumbled in the stretch, throwing Jockey M. Dupuy. In trying to avoid the fallen horse, Jockey A.
Pendergrass was unseated by Gor-mond. Neither Jockey was injured.
Handsome Belle Wins
Handsome Belle, E. L. Staples' chestnut filly, accounted for the fourth race with no apparent difficulty. Handsome Belle finished two lengths in front of O. V. Violins, with Magna Mater, third.
A. G. Tarn, in third place by about the same margin. The winner paid $7.82 and the time was 1:15 1/5.

The fast track seemed to be just right for Joan K., bay three-year-old, and the Scoville Stables entry, a favorite in the betting, won handicapped three lengths ahead of Bright Globe, with G. W. Fritz's Violin
third by half a length. The time was 1:46, and the winner paid $4.26, and ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:47 1/5.

There was a fast track for the third day of racing. A possibility existed that track conditions might change, however, as there was a threat of rain in the air when the horses went to the post for the first race, a six furlong sprint for fillies and mares four years old and up.
About 3000 spectators were in the stands when the day's racing started.

Arrivals, many of them women, swelled the crowd to more than 5000.

The "daily double" special betting pool will continue to be conducted on the second and third races throughout the meeting. It was announced by Joseph Cat-tlin, one of Fairmount owners.

WOMAN'S SUIT AGAINST ELKINS SET FOR TRIAL

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The action brought by Mrs. Allen Reynolds against Davis Elkins, former Senator from West Virginia, who she says agreed to pay her $1000 a month for life, was today put down for trial on Oct. 19.

In his opinion Judge Lippe disclosed that Elkins had admitted making the contract in 1923 but contends it was void for lack of consideration. Elkins in 1927 married Mary Regan, an actress.

CREDIT COLLAPSE
CITED BY ATTORNEYS

They Argue Bonds Will Be

Firms if Request Is Denied

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Interstate Commerce Commission was asked today to grant the railroads an emergency rate increase pending a comprehensive investigation of every form of transportation.

Greenville Clark of New York, appearing in the 15 per cent rate increase case in behalf of holders of railroad securities who are favoring the increase, proposed an emergency action and the study. Clark proposed that the railroads, trucks, busses, airplanes, coastwise steamers and other steamship lines be included into the investigation. He suggested that the investigating commission be composed of members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, members of the House and Senate, and representatives of shippers and of the railroad managements.

Clark and Charles E. Hughes Jr., representing holders of railroad bonds, told the commission in their arguments for the increase that railroad credit had collapsed as a result of declining earnings.

How Bonds Are Affected. They argued that the situation warranted emergency action and the undertaking of a permanent plan of stabilizing railroad credit. They contended the stability of railroad bonds was dependent upon a rate increase. Hughes asserted that over three-fourths of the railroad bonds now legal investments for trustees, savings banks and insurance companies, would be taken off legal lists at the end of this year unless the railroads secure relief.

"Class AAA railroad bonds have dropped 3 1/2 per cent under the situation," Hughes said. "Class AA bonds are off 4 1/2 per cent and Class A bonds 5 1/2 per cent while other issues of the railroads are similarly weak. The shrinkage in stock values also has affected the equity behind the bonds."

Hughes said there were more than $7,000,000,000 worth of railroad bonds now on legal lists. Of this amount, he said, 77 per cent will come off the lists at the end of the year because the railroads losing them will not earn 1 1/2 times their fixed charges, as required.

Paying Bond May Fail. Hughes said savings banks placed their first reserves in real estate mortgages but that a secondary reserve of 30 to 40 per cent of their assets were invested in bonds which could be converted quickly into cash.

"A bond may pay its coupon regularly every six months without failure and yet be a complete failure," said Hughes. "No bank can afford to invest its secondary reserve in bonds, no matter how safe they might be, that could be sold only at a loss if they had to be disposed of quickly to meet an emergency."

Commercial banks, he added, need to keep their reserves in even more fluid assets than savings banks. "It has become apparent," Hughes continued, "that railroad bonds are 'fair weather' securities. Banks and investors of that type do not buy such securities."

Clark contended that under the law the commission had no alternative but to grant the increase. He expressed belief that the commission had no right to question whether the proposed rates would produce the revenue predicted by the railroads.

SEEKS CUSTODY OF CHILDREN
Dr. Raymond Mills Spivy Recently
Sued for Divorce.

Dr. Raymond Mills Spivy, 4728 Westminister place, today sought custody of three minor children during the pendency of a divorce action recently instituted by his wife, Mrs. Mary Lawrence Eaton Spivy. He states that Mrs. Spivy left him without reason, taking the children with her, and returned to the home of her father, Francis G. Eaton, 80 Vandeventer place.

Another motion filed by the defendant asks that the plaintiff's petition be made more definite and certain, as the simple allegation that her condition as his wife was rendered intolerable is not sufficient for him to answer. In her petition Mrs. Spivy states she and Dr. Spivy were married in 1920 and separated last July 22. She asks for custody of the children, who are William Wright Spivy, 10 years old; Frances Eaton, 8, and Dixon Fleming, 5. Her father is president of the Heritage Realty Co.

EXPLODES IN HOOD OF TRUCK

Victims Had Borrowed Machine at Harrisburg, Ill.; Dynamite Apparently Meant for Owner. By the Associated Press. HARRISBURG, Ill., Sept. 22.—Albert Lewis Farmer, 21 years old, was killed and T. S. Farmer Jr., 18, a cousin, was fatally injured when dynamite under the hood of a truck they had borrowed exploded at a farm about two miles from Harrisburg today.

The truck belonged to Mark Wanless, also of Harrisburg, and it is thought the bomb was placed in the car by enemies of his. The two young men borrowed the

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, Sept. 22.—Representatives of China and Japan at the League of Nations were called on at a special session of the League Council today to withdraw the Japanese and Chinese troops now in the disputed Manchurian area.

The Chinese and Japanese spokesmen were summoned by the Council to meet with a Council committee for the purpose of finding the best measures for withdrawing troops without compromising the security of life and property. This action was taken after Kenkichi Yoshizawa of Japan had promised that Japan would abide by the principles of the League and that the Kellogg pact would take all possible measures to achieve an amicable and just settlement.

The Council meeting broke up with the pronouncement that it would be convened "as soon as possible" to act on the recommendation of its committee and to hear the spokesmen of the two Powers.

Lord Cecil of Great Britain proposed that the president of the Council solemnly summon both Powers to withdraw the troops, each from the territory of the other.

In his speech Lord Cecil recalled the Kellogg pact and the four-Power Pacific pact to which the United States is a party and proposed that all of the Council's deliberations on the Manchurian incident should be communicated to the United States Government and to others concerned.

Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to London, asserted that Japanese soldiers had seized Manchurian cities without provocation and demanded that the Council force Japan to withdraw and pay reparations to China.

Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japanese spokesman, denied that Japan's action had been without provocation on the part of the Chinese and cited the alleged attack on the South Manchurian Railway. He contended that restoration of the status quo was a question for negotiation between the two Powers.

He recalled Japan had rights in Manchuria guaranteed by numerous treaties and said the Chinese had often been guilty of destructive acts. Japanese deal and wounded disprove Chinese claims to nonresistance, he said, and there were many evidences that the Chinese were seeking to deprive Japanese of their rights to Manchuria.

"Chinese demands for reparations are incomprehensible since the incident was due to Chinese troops," he continued. "We will do nothing to aggravate the situation, which is based on a local incident. Japan is not making war on the Chinese Republic. The affair should be settled by direct negotiations between the two Governments. Intervention by the League prematurely would further inflame public opinion in my country which is already overexcited."

DISTRICT IN CHINESE FLIGHTColonel Maps 8000 Square Miles While Wife of Grand Canal.

By the Associated Press.
NANKING, China, Sept. 22.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed on Lotus Lake here at 5 p. m. today after a seven and one-half hour survey flight over the flooded region in Northern Kiangsu Province west of the Grand Canal. They discovered a badly flooded area heretofore unknown to the National Flood Relief Commission.

Photographs taken by Lindbergh on his first survey flight, declared to have been highly successful, were given over to the Flood Relief Commission for use in its operations.

As during yesterday's flight, which covered territory east of the canal, Mrs. Lindbergh was at the controls of the big monoplane throughout most of today's long survey flight tomorrow, as they had planned.

photographed and mapped an area covering 8000 square miles.

The area covered today was found less severely flooded than the region east of the canal, although it suffered heavily.

Lindbergh said the flood waters, released more than a month ago when dikes along the Grand Canal burst, were receding over much of the territory surveyed today. He said he and Mrs. Lindbergh were deeply moved at the sight of refugees still clinging to the roofs of their poor homes, with water lapping at the eaves and no means of escape or communication with the outside.

Most of the crops of Kiangsu Province have been destroyed by the floods, Lindbergh said. He pointed out that even if there were an early recession of the floods the harvests of 1931 would be lost.

It was uncertain tonight whether the Lindberghs would make another survey flight tomorrow, as they had planned.

peals from Japanese residents there.

Bombs thrown at the rear gate of the Harbin Japanese Consulate failed to explode, Rengo dispatches said, but one entrance of a branch of the Bank of Korea at Harbin was damaged by explosives, as was a section of a building housing a Japanese newspaper.

Should the report be true, there may be complications possibly involving Russia if the Japanese decide to use the Chinese Eastern Railway. This line is the direct route between Changchun and Harbin. The Chinese Eastern Railway, subject of much bickering between Russia and China in recent years, is operated under a joint commission of Russians and Chinese, but operation of the line rests chiefly in Russian hands. Changchun is the northern terminus of the South Manchurian Railway, center of the immediate trouble between China and Japan.

DRY ISSUE RAISED
AT EPISCOPAL MEETINGProposal for National Referendum Sent to Committee on Lawlessness.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Colo., Sept. 22.—The questions of prohibition and of sterilization of criminals and insane persons were raised in the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church yesterday, but were promptly referred to committees. Whether the two issues will ever be brought up for debate in the House of Bishops of the House of Bishops is doubtful.

A resolution providing that the church urge Congress to authorize a national referendum on prohibition was read in the House of Deputies and referred to the Committee on World Peace, Industrial Stability and Lawlessness. The resolution was placed before the convention by the diocese of Central New York.

The deputies also received a resolution from Henry S. Booth, lay delegate from Detroit, calling for approval of the sterilization of "all criminals, insane persons and those seriously defective in mind." It was referred to committee without comment.

Opposition to the 1932 budget of $4,225,000, recommended by the National Council of the church, was routed in the House of Deputies. Opponents cited prevailing economic conditions. After lively debate a proposal to reduce the budget to $4,000,000 was defeated overwhelmingly.

The relation of the church and college students was discussed in addresses at a mass meeting last night.

The Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins of the General Theological Seminary said "most of the churches have given up fundamentalism."

"There is not a theological seminary in the Protestant Episcopal Church," he said, "where the doctrine of verbal inerrancy of the Bible is taught."

A report recommending the abolition of rented pews in Episcopal churches was adopted by the House of Deputies.

The House of Deputies defeated a resolution which called upon the convention "to repudiate" the de-

War Department Not Informed.

The War Department in Tokyo said it had no information regarding the rumor. Rengo concluded that the local military at Changchun might have acted on its own initiative.

Just prior to adjournment of the Cabinet today it was decided that no Japanese troops should be sent north of Changchun. Any movement of Japanese soldiers to Harbin would run counter to that decision.

Rengo's reports said Japanese military activities north of Mukden today included the disarming of Chinese soldiers at Chenkiatun, on the railroad line connecting with Sipingka. Later advances indicated the Japanese were advancing toward Taonan along a line built by the Japanese, but controlled by the Chinese. This line connects with the Chinese Eastern Railway near Tsishan.

Minister of War Minami reported to the Cabinet that the army had decided to reinforce its Manchurian corps with a mixed brigade from Korea because of the "overwhelming number" of Chinese soldiers in Manchuria.

Minami pointed out that, under the Portsmouth treaty, which ended the Russo-Japanese War, Japan was entitled to 15,000 soldiers in Manchuria whenever the occasion demanded. Her total force in that State at the outbreak of the present trouble was estimated at 12,000. He said the mixed brigade would bring that strength to 14,400.

The Cabinet decided that the administration of Mukden and other occupied Manchurian points should be left to civilians. Under the Cabinet plan the Chinese would be well represented on civic commissions appointed to administer Manchurian civic affairs.

Woodcock finishes inquiry into charges by Karch.

No Action to Be Taken, Says Dry Director, Until More Evidence Is Presented.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Amos W. Woodcock, national director of prohibition enforcement, today announced an investigation had been completed of charges by Congressman Charles A. Karch, Representative of the Twenty-second Illinois District, that prohibition was being enforced illegally in the Eastern Illinois district. No action will be taken, Woodcock said, until Representative Karch presents additional data.

Representative Karch, at his home in East St. Louis today, said he would have documentary evidence in due time of illegal enforcement of the Volstead act "under the ruthless system now employed."

"Prohibition agents have been using women decoys in Illinois, and in most of the minor cases, raid without warrant," he said. "A Washington representative of Woodcock's office called on me for proof of my charges, but gave me no time in which to assemble witnesses. I have not yet presented my case to Woodcock's office, but I will have documentary evidence in time to substantiate everything I have charged."

DR. W. W. YEN APPOINTED CHINESE MINISTER TO U. S.Former Premier Accepts Post Because of Troubled Situation in Manchuria.

By the Associated Press.
NANKING, China, Sept. 22.—Chinese Nationalist Government today announced the appointment of Dr. W. W. Yen, Premier of the old Peking government, as Minister to the United States.

Dr. Yen, who is rated as one of China's ablest statesmen, twice previously declined the appointment, pleading that he had retired from public service. He accepted the third offer, however. His ultimate acceptance of the diplomatic post was thought to have been influenced by developments in Manchuria, where Japanese troops have seized several cities. This development found China without a spokesman of ministerial rank in Washington.

Dr. Yen succeeds C. C. Wu, who resigned several months ago and joined the insurgent Chinese government at Canton.

EXPLORER MACMILLAN ILL FROM DIET OF MUSSELSOperation Probably Will Be Performed as Result of Stomach Ailment.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Lieutenant-Commander Donald H. MacMillan, explorer, entered Massachusetts General Hospital last Sunday for treatment of a stomach ailment caused by a diet of mussels while charting the North, it was learned yesterday.

Dr. Arthur Allen, who attended the explorer, said an operation probably would be performed, but the condition of the patient was not serious. MacMillan has suffered from stomach trouble for some time. Dr. Allen said that on his last trip, when he mapped large areas of Northern wastelands by plane, the scarcity of food necessitated the diet which caused the ailment to become more acute.

EARTHQUAKE IN NEW ZEALAND
Scene of Disaster on Feb. 3 Shaken With Slight Damage.

By the Associated Press.
WELLINGTON, N. Z., Sept. 22.—The vicinity of Hawkes Bay, which was visited Feb. 3 by an earthquake which caused great loss of life and damage, was shaken again this morning, but no appreciable damage was reported.

The shocks this morning were felt in both islands of New Zealand, from Auckland to Christchurch. Sleepers were awakened and at Napier the quake was severe enough to hurl articles from shelves in the houses.

MANILA, Sept. 22.—A slight earthquake was felt here at 12:25 a. m. today. No damage was reported.

Windows Broken in Montreal Building, Nearby Houses Shaken.

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—Montreal Police Headquarters was shaken early today by an explosion thought to have been caused by a bomb hurled at the building.

Police officers who rushed out of the station in the City Hall Annex found a large hole in the sidewalk. Dozens of window panes crashed to the ground. Several telephone operators were thrown off their chairs.

The House of Bishops is faced with a problem in the selection of a suffragan Bishop of Mexico. A resolution was presented for the election of a native Bishop of Mexico. The seating of a Mexican in the House of Bishops would be unprecedented and action on the question was deferred. Suffragan Bishops have a seat in the House but no vote.

AMERICAN LEGION

Fight Crowd Threatening to Block Route.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 22.—The American Legion, in national convention here, marched in a parade today while controversial issues rested with committees which will make their reports tomorrow and Thursday.

The line of march was four miles long. The parade started forming at 10:30 a. m. on Jefferson avenue and Grand boulevard, three miles from the reviewing stand, and the last units were instructed to report in parade order four hours later.

Led by O. L. Bodenhamer of Arkansas, past national commander, the parade moved to the music of nearly 100 bands and drum corps. Many women fainted and minor injuries were inflicted on several persons when the mounted police fought back the crowd near the City Hall which threatened to block the route. Men, women and children were packed in a mass. Mounted policemen rode up and down, pushing back the crowd. The women who had fainted were carried to police cars.

Police and Troops as Escort.

A squad of mounted police and a troop of Michigan National Guard cavalry formed the escort and places of honor at the head of the column went to the Electric Post band of Milwaukee, Wis., and the Miami (Fla.) drum corps, national champions in their fields.

CARMEN'S UNION
FILES REPLY BRIEF
IN WAGE DISPUTEQuotes Court Decisions in Opposition to R. S. Co.'s Demand for 10 Per Cent Reduction of Pay.

The reply brief of the street carmen's union in the wage arbitration case was filed with the Board of Arbitration today.

Oral arguments will be made by counsel next Friday, after which the board is expected to decide within a short time the issues involved. First, the request of the Public Service Co. for a 10 per cent reduction in the hourly rate of pay of its union employees, and second, the request of the union for an increase in the extra allowance, now 7 cents an hour, paid to trainmen for operation of one-man cars.

It is the position of the Public Service Co., summed up in its brief filed Sept. 9, that its financial condition, due to loss of business, is such that a reduction in wages is imperative, and that independently of the necessities, the wage rates of its employees are out of line and should be reduced.

The company's arguments as to both points are vigorously attacked in the union brief, prepared by William R. Schneider, legal counsel, and O. David Zimring, economic counsel.

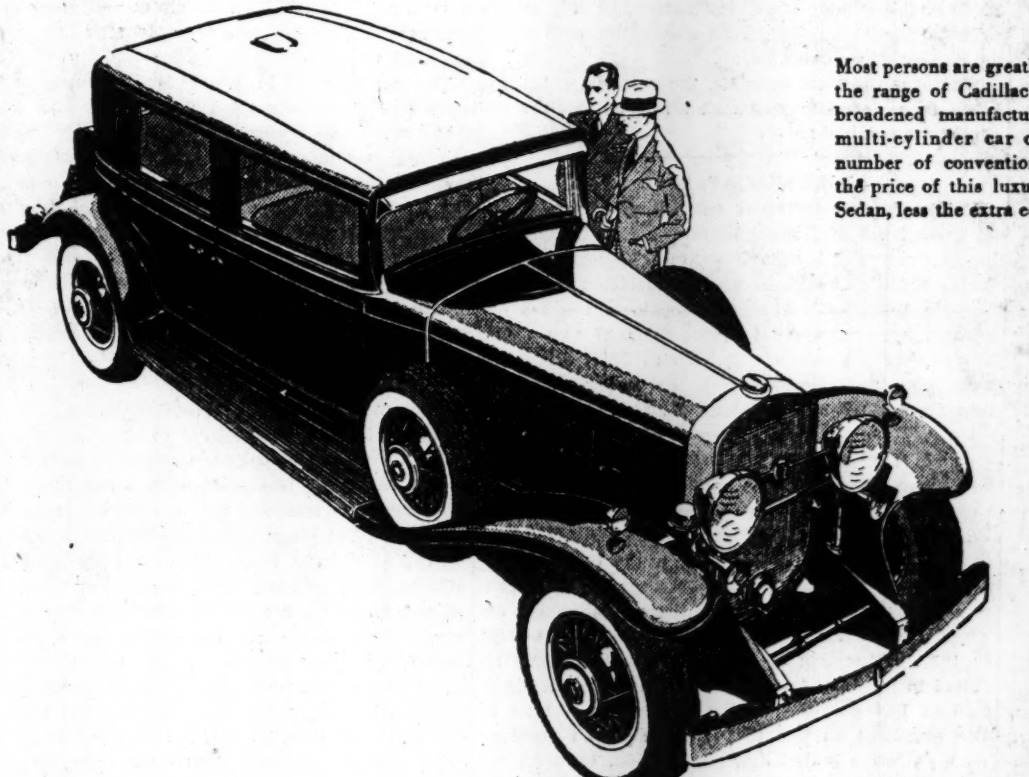

Demands Living Wage.

The union argues that "the financial condition of the company is immaterial, unless and until it is shown that the wages are now more than would be necessary to meet reasonable minimum living requirements," and then summarizes the evidence on living costs and average earnings of the trainmen.

The budget for a manual work-

The Car of the Year in its Own Fine Field is the CADILLAC V-12

To own and drive a Cadillac has long been a definite badge of distinction in every civilized country on earth. But never has Cadillac ownership meant so much as it does today.

Consider, for instance, the magnificent Cadillac V-12—and all that its ownership has come to imply.

Introduced to the public in October, 1930, this distinguished car is now but a year old; yet it has definitely become, in this short period of time, the outstanding car in its own fine field.

To own a Cadillac V-12, in any community in America, is to have your car acknowledged on every hand as one of the undeniably fine possessions a man can acquire.

The V-12 was destined, of course, from its very inception, to set an entirely new standard of general excellence—for back of it was Cadillac's long experience in the fine-car field, and a 30-year-old tradition of surpassing craftsmanship.

If you are not already familiar with the capabilities of this distinguished car, you are cordially invited to come in and drive it. Except the V-16 alone, no other car in the world can offer such completely captivating performance. In fact, we are certain you will always remember your first ride in a Cadillac V-12 as a most unusual experience.

Come in any time that suits your convenience. Or, if you prefer, telephone—and a V-12 will be sent to your door.

WOMAN'S SUIT AGAINST
ELKINS SET FOR TRIAL

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The action brought by Marie Allen Reynolds against Davis Elkins, former Senator from West Virginia, who she says agreed to pay her $1000 a month for life, was today put down for trial on Oct. 19.

City Court Judge Vincent Lippe granted an application for preference made by Mrs. Reynolds, who is suing Elkins for $1150. This amount is said to be the entire April installment and an unpaid portion of the March one.

In his opinion Judge Lippe disclosed that Elkins had admitted making the contract in 1923 but contends it was void for lack of consideration. Elkins in 1927 married Mary Regan, an actress.

"How do I do it? I can't take time for golf. But I do take Nujol. And Nujol takes care of me."

Nujol is just a natural substance containing no drugs or medicine. Nujol was perfected by the famous Nujol Laboratories, 2 Park Avenue, New York City. It keeps the body functioning as nature meant it to, even under abnormal sedentary conditions. It not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

Follow this advice and take Nujol regularly. You'll be amazed to find how much more energetic and efficient you will feel—and be. Take it steadily for three months and watch your improvement. It can't do you any harm, certainly, and might do you a lot of good.

Be sure you get the genuine.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Interstate Commerce Commission was asked today to grant the railroads an emergency rate increase pending a comprehensive investigation of every form of transportation.

Greenview Clark of New York, appearing in the 15 per cent rate increase case in behalf of holders of railroad securities who are favoring the increase, proposed the emergency action and the study.

Clark proposed that the railroads, trucks, buses, airplanes, coastwise steamers and other steamship lines be included into the investigating commission be composed of members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, members of the House and Senate, and representatives of shippers and of the railroad management.

Clark and Charles E. Hughes Jr., representing holders of railroad bonds, told the commission that arguments for the increase that railroad credit had collapsed as a result of declining earnings.

Hughes asserted that over three-fourths of the railroad bonds now legal investments for trustees, savings banks and insurance companies, would be taken off legal lists at the end of this year unless the railroads secure relief.

"Class AAA railroad bonds have dropped 3 1/2 per cent under the situation," Hughes said. "Class AA bonds are off 4 1/2 per cent and Class A bonds 5 1/2 per cent while other issues of the railroads are similarly weak. The shrinkage in stock values also has affected the equity behind the bonds."

Hughes said that there were more than $7,000,000,000 worth of railroad bonds now on legal lists. At the end of the year because the railroads are insolvent they will not earn 1 1/2 times their fixed charges, as required.

Paying Bond May Fail.
Hughes said that savings banks placed their first reserves in real estate mortgages but that a secondary reserve of 30 to 40 per cent of their assets were invested in bonds which would be converted quickly into cash.

"A bond may pay its coupon regularly every six months without failure and yet be a complete failure," said Hughes. "No bank can afford to invest its secondary reserve in bonds, no matter how safe they might be, that could be sold only at a loss if they had to be disposed of quickly to meet an emergency."

Commercial banks, he added, need to keep their reserves in even more fluid assets than savings banks.

"It has become apparent," Hughes continued, "that railroad bonds are 'fair weather' securities. Banks and investors of that type do not buy such securities."

Clark contended that under the law the commission had no alternative but to grant the increase. He expressed belief that the commission had no right to question whether the proposed rates would produce the revenue predicted by the railroads.

"I Might Have Forgotten All About It," She Says at Ohio Home.

By the Associated Press.
NEW LEXINGTON, O., Sept. 22.—President Hoover has reminded Mrs. Susan Palmer Kennedy that today was her one hundred and sixth birthday anniversary. The President's message came with similar greetings from Gov. White of Ohio and others.

"I might have forgotten all about it," she said. "Had so many birthdays, you know."

The President's letter read: "Your span of life, extending from the year in which John Quincy Adams became President, is a most unusual record. On the occasion of your one hundred and sixth birthday, please accept my hearty congratulations and sincere good wishes for your happiness."

Mrs. Kennedy spent the day quietly at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. J. W. Ricketts. With her was her old day pipe.

SEEKS CUSTODY OF CHILDREN
Dr. Raymond Mills Spivy Recently
Sued for Divorce.

Dr. Raymond Mills Spivy, 4728 Westminister place, today sought custody of three minor children during the pendency of a divorce action recently instituted by his wife, Mrs. Mary Lawrence Eaton Spivy. He states that Mrs. Spivy left him without reason, taking the children with her, and returned to the home of her father, Francis G. Eaton, 80 Vandeventer place.

Another motion filed by the defendant asks that the plaintiffs' petition be made more definite and certain, as the simple allegation that her condition as his wife was rendered intolerable is not sufficient for him to answer. In her petition Mrs. Spivy states she and Dr. Spivy were married in 1920 and separated last July 22. She asks for custody of the children, who are William Wright Spivy, 10 years old; Frances Eaton, 8, and Dixon Plimon, 5. Her father is president of the Heritage Realty Co.

TWO KILLED WHEN BOMB

Victims Had Borrowed Machine at Harrisburg, Ill.; Dynamite Apparently Meant for Owner.

By the Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, Ill., Sept. 22.—Albert Lewis Farmer, 21 years old, was killed and T. S. Farmer Jr., 18, a cousin, was fatally injured when dynamite under the hood of a truck they had borrowed exploded at a farm about two miles from Harrisburg today.

The truck belonged to Mark Wanless, also of Harrisburg, and it is thought the bomb was placed in the car by enemies of his.

The two young men borrowed the truck early today and drove to the farm of Sherman Barnett to see about borrowing a wagon to move household goods. As they went back to the truck and stopped on the starter the explosion occurred. Albert was killed outright and his cousin died several hours later.

Harvey Thompson, 35, a miner and brother-in-law of Mark Wanless, was arrested and charged with placing the dynamite. Wanless was arrested Sunday a week ago on an assault and battery charge preferred by his wife, who was beaten so badly she was taken to a hospital here.

Geneva Representatives Called Before Council Committee and Urged to

TOKIO SAYS IT WILL

Ready to Accept Joint Commission Proposal—It Is Reported, However, That Invasion of Disputed Zone Continues.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Sept. 22.—Representatives of China and Japan at the League of Nations were called on at a special session of the League Council today to withdraw the Japanese and Chinese troops now in the disputed Manchurian area.

The Chinese and Japanese spokesmen were summoned by the Council to meet with a Council committee for the purpose of finding the best measures for withdrawing troops without compromising the security of life and property. This action was taken after Kenkichi Yoshizawa of Japan had promised that Japan would abide by the principles of the League covenant and the Kellogg pact and would take all possible measures to achieve an amicable and just settlement.

The Council meeting broke up with the promise that it would be convened "as soon as possible" to act on the recommendation of its committee and to hear the spokesmen of the two Powers.

Lord Curzon of Great Britain proposed that the president of the Council solemnly summon both Powers to "withdraw their troops, each from the territory of the other."

In his speech Lord Cecil recalled the Kellogg pact and the four-Power Pacific pact to which the United States is a party, and proposed that all of the Council's deliberations on the Manchurian incident should be communicated to the United States Government and to others concerned.

Lord Cecil also recalled the London conference of 1922, when the Japanese asserted that Japanese soldiers had seized Manchurian cities without provocation and demanded that the Council force Japan to withdraw and pay reparations to China.

Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japanese spokesman, denied that Japan's action had been without provocation on the part of the Chinese and cited the alleged attack on the South Manchurian Railway. He contended that restoration of the status quo was a question for negotiation between the two Powers.

He recalled Japan had rights in Manchuria guaranteed by numerous treaties and said the Chinese had often been guilty of destructive acts, Japanese deal and wounded disapproved Chinese claims to nonresistance, he said, and there were many evidences that the Chinese were seeking to deprive Japanese of their rights in Manchuria.

"Chinese demands for reparations are incomprehensible since the incident was due to Chinese troops," he continued. "We will do nothing to aggravate the situation, which is based on a local incident."

"Japan is not making war on the Chinese Republic. The affair should be

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles: that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of the people, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy, or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE
Fred J. Kern.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As this is written Fred J. Kern, publisher and editor of the Belleville News-Democrat, a former Democratic Congressman, one-time president of the Illinois Board of Administration and five times Mayor of Belleville, lies stricken with a serious heart attack. It does not express, by any means, the full worth of Editor Kern to say that his illness calls attention to the life of one of our noblest, most valuable citizens. A power in molding public opinion in his community, Fred J. Kern has been for years a courageous and distinguished enemy of sham and hypocrisy, and of corruption in public affairs.

Whenever it has been necessary to fight, Fred Kern has always been in the shock battalion and has stayed until the last shot was fired. He has permitted his life to be laid down for the most intense editorial barrages against sumptuary legislation that have been fired since the adoption of the eighteenth amendment. And when Fred Kern writes it isn't necessary to do any sifting to get his meaning. He is an instant believer in the Jeffersonian principle of local self-government as applied to the wet and dry issue.

Mr. Kern was one of Col. James Hamilton Lewis' strongest supporters last year, and how it must have delighted his rugged soul when the meticulous Colonel swept the State by a landslide vote in the race against Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick for United States Senator. He gave other Lewis supporters, who were Kern's friends, double satisfaction when they thought of how pleasing the result must have been to Editor Kern. May he safely recover and again assume his place at the controls of this liberal Illinois newspaper is the earnest wish of all his comrades in the arms.

MELVIN D. FULCHER.

Commercialization of the Radio.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A NEWSPEAKER letter writer says that in the city in which he lives the radio is not being used as much as here. There is nothing like reading things in black and white, where we have things before us and can pin them down. The printed word is more powerful than the spoken word. Over the radio we get a hash of jazz, cheap songs and cheap acting, false philosophy and false statements, and the vapors of all sorts of crackpot theories and people with axes to grind. The radio has become an almost purely commercialized institution by means of which manufacturers and business men try to reach the largest number of people. These men are not interested in spreading culture among the people, or in teaching them, trying to improve their morals and manners, or elevating their tastes.

CHARLES HOOPER.

Child Labor Legislation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As an appreciative reader of the editorial page of the Post-Dispatch, I was disappointed to find the editorial "Renewing the Fight Against Child Labor," in a recent issue. I was astonished to see the brave and fearless champion of states' rights and authority now apparently approving unnecessary tampering with the Federal Constitution. While I wholeheartedly agree that there should be legislation against child labor, I feel that the states, and not the Federal Government, should adopt such laws.

The Post-Dispatch has been a persistent fighter against the centralization of power in Washington. Why, then, have you from this case? Legislation against child labor is very commendable, but we should be careful of the ways and means we employ to procure a good end. The same arrangement that made a Jones law possible in regard to a phase of man's personal conduct will pave the way for excesses in regulating the life and conduct and education of children. This danger is all the graver, because of the growing false conviction that the child is the property of the state.

Let's not imitate those whom we have justly condemned. Let's fight for the abolition of child labor, but let's do it the same way we have asked others to work for their reforms.

CON. SISTENT.

Another Form of Overproduction.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
ATTENTION has been repeatedly called to the overproduction of some of our staple commodities, such as wheat, corn and cotton.

There is, however, another form of overproduction that, as yet, no one has mentioned. That is an overproduction of the job-seeking class as compared with the number of jobs available. The number of those who are not endowed by nature to manage a business, and who therefore must seek employment from others.

R. C. BARNETT.

BRITAIN SUSPENDS GOLD PAYMENTS.

The suspension of gold payments by the Bank of England, though foreshadowed by the unfavorable turn in English affairs during past weeks, comes as a severe blow to world confidence at a critical time. The phrase, "safe as the Bank of England," has for so many years been a synonym for conservatism and stability that this action seems like the collapse of the very keystone of credit. Yet the fact that England has been in economic difficulties for some time, and that London in recent years has not held the pre-eminence in finance it had before 1914, makes the event less startling than it would have been in the pre-war world.

The decision to suspend payments came as the result of the withdrawal of $1,000,000,000 in funds from the London market within the past two months. Although a large part of this drain was met by the obtaining of short term credits abroad by the Government and the Bank of England, the gold reserves of the bank suffered an alarming decrease. For decades before the war, London was the world's financial center. Even the increasing importance of New York, and the shift of some of the long-term financing to that city, failed to shake the hold of London on the financing of international trade.

Despite the increasing use of dollar exchange, much of the world's trade is still financed in sterling. Banks and merchants in every port on the seven seas have kept London balances, always confident that they could withdraw them on a moment's notice. This meant that the world could at any time call on England for amounts far beyond that country's gold stock. But in the heyday of England's financial greatness this was not a source of danger, for a slight increase in the Bank of England's discount rate was sufficient to stop any serious withdrawal of funds. But the doubts in many circles as to the economic future of England, accentuated by the failure to balance the budget, the political crisis and the difficulties in the navy, contributed to a general movement for the withdrawal of funds that was too great to be stopped by ordinary measures. This suspension of payments does not affect any obligations that are payable in foreign currencies. But if the pound depreciates on the foreign exchanges, as seems likely, all foreigners holding obligations payable in sterling will lose.

It is the announced intention of the British Government to resume gold payments as soon as conditions permit. However, an influential group in England, led by that brilliant economist, John Maynard Keynes, opposed the return to the gold standard in 1925, and many elements in the Labor party were not enthusiastic about the action taken by the Baldwin Government at that time. Doubts have already been expressed in financial circles as to whether England will ever go back to the gold standard at the old parity.

Although England has on more than one occasion had the last laugh on those who made pessimistic prophecies, and eventual devaluation of the pound is not an impossibility, such an action seems more likely than the adoption of bimetalism, or of a "managed currency" freed from all connection with gold.

Whatever the final outcome, the suspension brings home in a dramatic way that all is not well with England's economic world.

BOOK MARKET NOTE.

It is a pleasure to report a substantial increase in an early issue of Hoover literary stock. According to the director of the Engineering Societies' Library, copies of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover's translation (1912) of "De Re Metallica," Agricola's medieval treatise on mining, have advanced in price from $7 two years ago to amounts ranging as high as $200 today. A later issue, "American Individualism" (1922), unfortunately has not enjoyed the same rise.

WHO CAUSES THE AUTO DEATHS?

The recently announced tabulation of motor fatalities in New York City for the three-year period, 1927-29, leads to some conclusions of value not only in that metropolis but elsewhere over the country. Pedestrians, it seems, are growing somewhat more cautious, for deaths attributed to their carelessness declined from 43.7 per cent of the total in 1927 to 38.7 in 1929. Education of children in traffic perils resulted in reducing fatalities from play activities from 14.8 to 10.4 per cent in the same period. Loss of life classified as due to drivers, such as recklessness, defective brakes and intoxication, were 4.1 per cent in 1927, rose to 4.9 the next year and in 1929 fell to 3.7. The greatest increase was in deaths from collisions, which swelled from 8.1 to 13.4 per cent of the whole in the same period. Traffic conditions, such as slippery streets and blind corners, also gained as a cause of fatalities, from 19.7 to 21.3 per cent. Some unaccountable part of this increase must also be laid to the drivers, for added caution on their part under unfavorable traffic conditions certainly would have saved lives.

The time and the territory covered by these figures are, of course, too limited for generalization. Nevertheless, it is significant to note how the records for pedestrians and children showed improvement, that of drivers fluctuated, and that there was an increase in fatal collisions, which are usually due to errors by one or both drivers. The motorist himself is disclosed in these figures as the factor in greatest need of missionary work in the gospel of traffic safety, and the same point doubtless holds true over the country. Pedestrians and children still play a lamentably large part in motor accidents, but they at least show a steady improvement. It is within the power of the driver to reduce the traffic toll, which took 32,500 lives in the United States last year.

WHAT ST. LOUIS ESCAPED.

Report just made by its accountants to the Missouri Public Service Commission upon financial practices of the Empire District Electric Co. of Joplin indicates what St. Louis escaped by refusing to extend the street railway franchises of Jake Newman and his associates.

The accountants find that the Empire company, a Doherty concern, took $1,448,957 of the proceeds of a preferred stock sale made for the purpose of improving the plant, and transferred this money into an account designated, the capital surplus account. From this capital surplus account a dividend of $510,000, or 17 per cent, was paid on the common stock in 1927. The point of their criticism is that if this sum of $1,448,957 was not used for additions to the plant it should have been subtracted from the company's valuation. To distribute it as dividends on the common stock was an obvious impropriety.

It is jugglery of this sort that has brought the utilities into disrepute. The accountants of the commission found that the Empire company had at its disposal since 1924 transferred $1,600,000 from the depreciation to surplus. Part of the transferred funds have also, to some extent, been made the basis of dividends. The accountants recommended to the commission that managerial and engineering fees totaling $456,559 in a period of years be disallowed as charges against operating costs. Among these charges was one usually found in this happy hunting ground for profiteers, a payment of $395,759 by the Joplin plant and its predecessors to Henry L. Doherty & Co. since 1917. This was 5 per cent of construction cost, and it went for engineering assistance. The Empire company had its own engineers and construction superintendents, so that it did not require these services; but the gentlemen exploiting the property required a super-charge upon the concern for rate making purposes, which is what this was. The Doherty company also collected in the year ending September, 1930, $60,500 managerial and supervisory fees from the Empire company. This is one of the gold mines in the utility business, a veritable Comstock Lode out of which millions have been lifted.

This was the game of Jake Newman and his associates in St. Louis when they acquired the street railways. It is a common practice of predatory financiers to pick up such a property, launch elaborate issues against it, and apply part of the receipts from these issues to dividends on the common stock. They, of course, hold the common stock. They also take money out of the depreciation fund and pay dividends with it on the common stock. Such practices oftentimes bring the property into bankruptcy, as they did the old St. Louis Transit Co. of malodorous memory. In the washout of that skulduggery some $41,000,000 invested by the public in the numerous issues against the property went down the sewers, a total loss. The exploiters took their greedy profits and made off with them, leaving the property to founder.

The predicament in which Mr. Newman and his associates find themselves is unusual. As a rule, these raids are a success, as that of Mr. Newman and his associates would have been a success had they got their franchises extended at the outset and put their stunts out when the markets were good. Findings of the commission's accountants in the affairs of the Joplin utility show how the trick is done. It is a scummy trick. If it can be exposed before it succeeds, as happened in the case of Mr. Newman and his associates, there is a distinctive gain for public decency.

A HAPPY COMPROMISE.

Mayor Miller's suggestion to the American Legion that the Municipal Auditorium be built as a memorial to World War soldiers is a sensible one. It was originally intended that a separate memorial be erected on the plaza, and provision for it was made in the 1925 bond issue. However, the cost of acquiring plaza property has been higher than expected and funds for a separate memorial are not available. To dedicate the auditorium as a memorial would be a happy compromise, and since the Mayor's proposal includes furnishing quarters in the building for veterans' organizations, we trust the latter will accept it. If they do not, a new bond issue would be necessary and completion of the plaza, already delayed, would be postponed indefinitely.

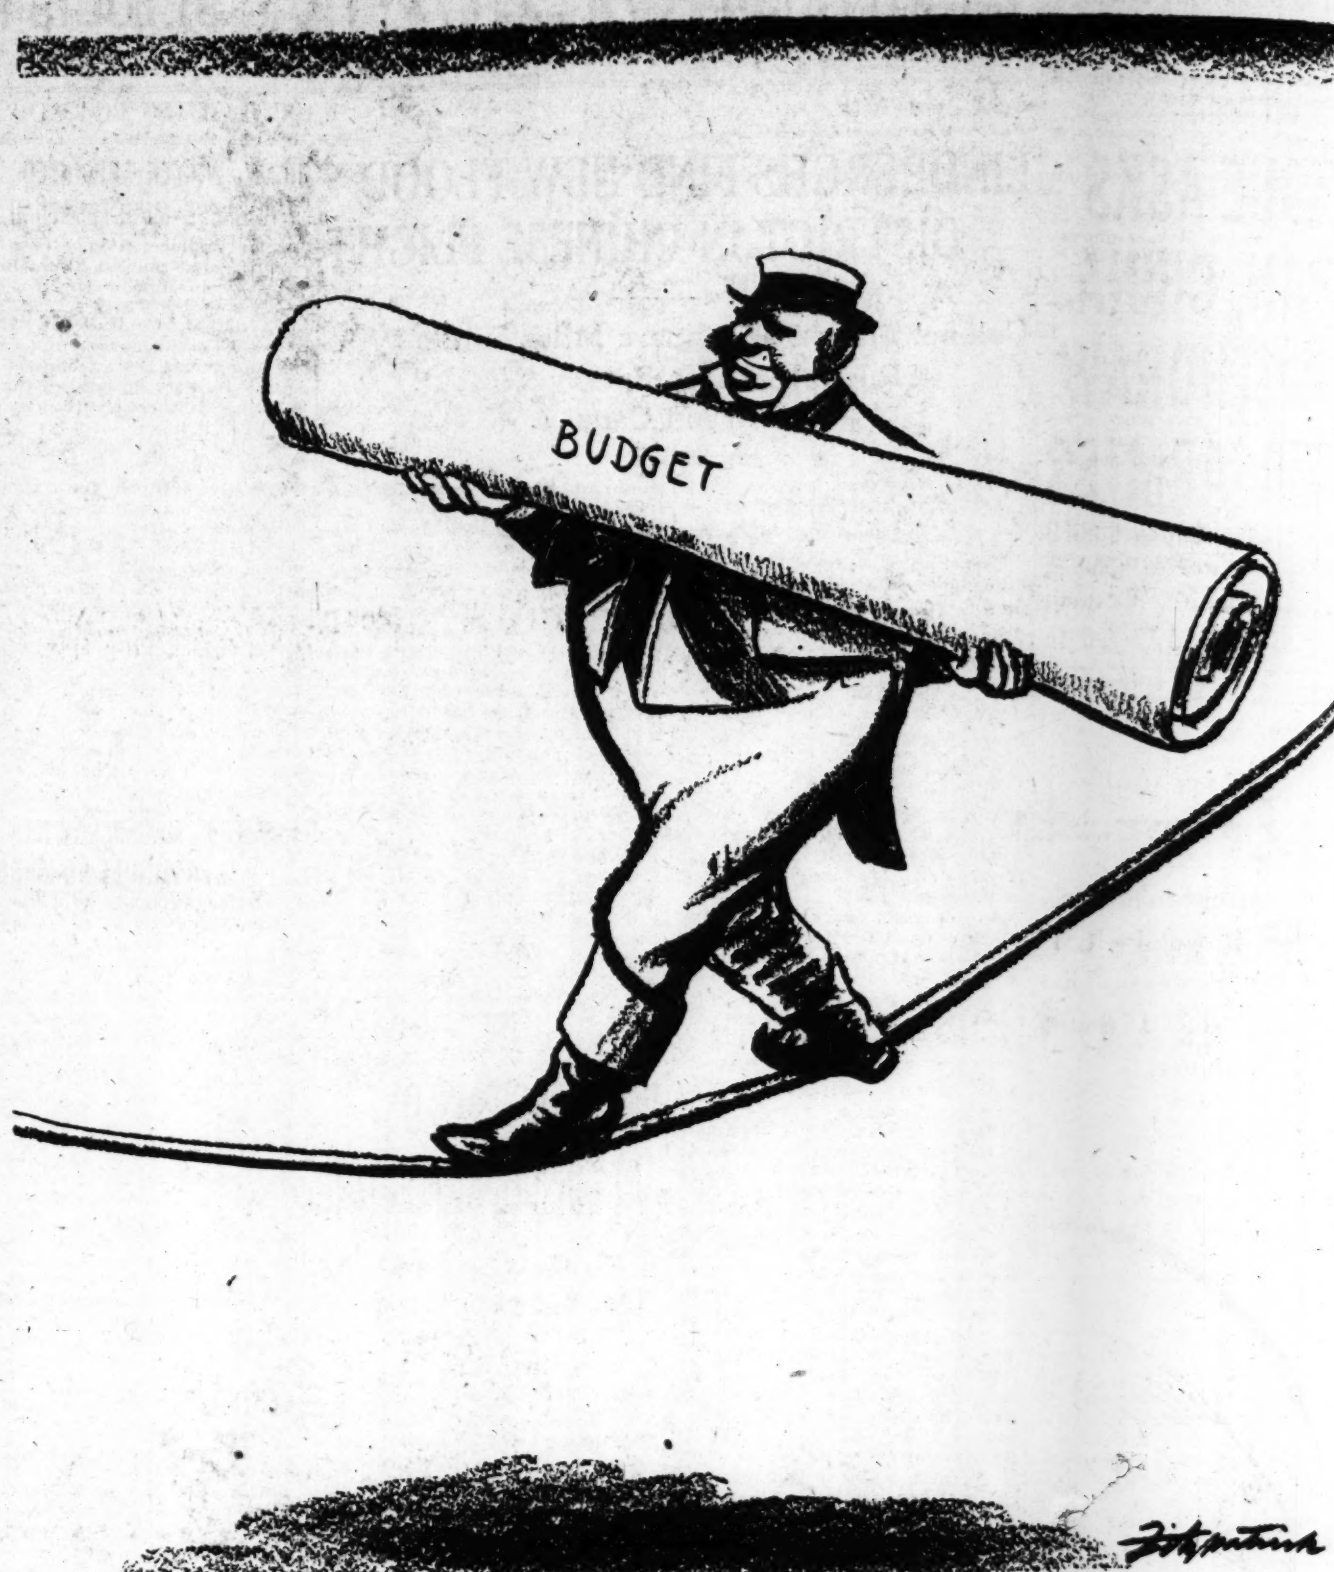

MR. HOOVER AT DETROIT.

In his eagerness to forestall action by the American Legion for veterans' legislation that would require further financial outlay, Mr. Hoover last Saturday suddenly decided to go to Detroit. His speech before the Legion convention, written hastily at Rapidan and revised on the train, consisted of outlining the financial embarrassment of the Treasury and pointing out the dangers of increasing Federal expenditures at this time. There can hardly be any dispute as to the soundness of the President's argument. The Government has been lavish in its provision for disabled veterans and the last Congress made it possible for ex-soldiers to borrow 60 per cent of the face value of their adjusted compensation certificates. In view of what already has been done and of the Treasury deficit, further demands could hardly be justified.

We wonder, however, whether Mr. Hoover was not unduly alarmed about the situation. There are, of course, numerous individuals in the Legion who are professional Treasury-raiders and every convention is marked by their activities. But that is not to say that the leadership and the bulk of the rank and file are so narrowly concerned with getting all they can from the Government as to stampede whenever cash legislation is mentioned. It is true, also, that last month Paul C. Wolman, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said his organization would urge payment in full of adjusted compensation when Congress convenes in December. But that was merely the statement of an individual.

At the American Legion unemployment conference, which opened in Washington Sept. 14, Gen. Harbord warned the Legion against going "down to Detroit with a program of relief for the whole country, and at the same time hold out an empty tin cup." He added: "If you do, you will be laughed at. And I say that as a man in favor of the bonus legislation of 1924."

With Gen. Harbord, former chief of staff of the A. E. F., and Mr. Hoover both counselling the Legion to the contrary, whatever movement existed for full payment of the certificates should be weak.

EASY DOES IT!

The St. Louis Milk War

Outline of the controversy between Pevely Dairy Co., on the one hand, and Sanitary Milk Producers, a farmers' co-operative organization, on the other; Pevely company, while buying milk from members of the co-operative, refuses to deal with it as a group; these members retaliated by declaring a strike.

By Isidor Loeb, Dean of the School of Business and Public Administration, Washington University.

SINCE the first of this month there has been a serious controversy between the Sanitary Milk Producers and the Pevely Dairy Co. Much feeling has been manifested and acts of violence have been committed. Large numbers of the population of metropolitan St. Louis, as milk consumers, are affected and it is desirable that they should have a summary of the facts that affect the present situation.

For a number of years preceding and including 1929 much suspicion and discontent had existed between the producers of milk, living in Missouri and Illinois counties adjacent to St. Louis, and the dealers who distributed milk to consumers in this territory. The former, unaware in many cases of the costs of retail distribution, believed there was too large a spread between the price paid them and that charged the consumer. The distributors, on the other hand, feared attempts on the part of producers to exact a price that would not be justified by market conditions and would prevent maintenance of a stabilized market.

After considerable discussion, it was decided to appoint a fact-finding committee to investigate and determine facts affecting the situation in this and other similar communities. The work of this committee and the conference which it called covered a period of about four months. Personal investigation was undertaken among producers in Missouri and Illinois and at the milk stations and plants of dealers. A first-hand study was made of the situation in three other markets where dealers and producers, co-operate and reports from other communities were received and carefully studied. The committee secured valuable assistance from members of the faculties of the agricultural colleges of Missouri and Illinois, from farm advisers in the different counties in this section and from dairy experts of the national Government.

The committee was convinced that many of the sources of conflict in the milk marketing system would be eliminated by a plan of collective bargaining such as obtains in other communities and is encouraged by the National Agricultural Marketing Act. It felt that such a method would prove successful in the St. Louis market and that it would have a beneficial influence in improving the quality of milk provided for the consumer.

Upon the committee's recommendation, a joint committee of nine members was appointed to work out the details of an agreement. This committee consisted of three representatives each of the producers, dealers and consumers. After prolonged conferences, a marketing agreement and price plan were adopted. While space does not permit setting forth the details of the plan, the essential features may be indicated. The dealers recognize the Sanitary Milk Producers as the sales agent of the 3000 farmers who are its members. No dealer is prevented from buying from producers who are not members except that he agrees not to pay them a price higher than that paid members. No attempt is made to limit the territory from which dealers may purchase. Dealers agree to pay the producers' association three cents on every 100 pounds of milk bought from its members. The association retains two-thirds of this amount to defray its quality improvement work and other expenses. The remaining one cent goes to the St. Louis branch of the National Dairy Council, and the dealers agree to pay an equal amount to this body.

This agreement was made in August, 1929, and was accepted by many of the smaller dealers and by all of the larger dealers with the sole exception of the Pevely Dairy Co., the largest dealer in the city. A representative of that company had attended some of the earlier meetings but withdrew in July, 1930, when it was voted to appoint the joint committee to work out the details of an agreement. The plan was inaugurated in September, 1930, and has been in successful operation since that time. Throughout this period repeated but unsuccessful efforts were made by the Sanitary Milk Producers and by the St. Louis Consumers' Milk Commission to have the Pevely Dairy Co. join the rest of the St. Louis dealers in accepting the plan.

While the Pevely Dairy Co. refused to deal with its producers on the group plan recommended by the Consumers' Milk Commission, it paid them under individual contracts, by providing for the prevailing price, secured to them substantially the same amount that was paid by co-operating dealers to their producers. About 2500 of the Pevely producers were members of the milk producers' association and approximately the same number were not.

At the end of August of this year, the Pevely company refused a request of the Sanitary Milk Producers to purchase milk from association members through the association. Instead, it announced a new form of individual contract with its producers, under which, it is claimed, the company would have the sole right to fix the price to be paid by it for milk. As the Pevely company also refused to permit representatives of the producers to check its weights or butterfat tests of their milk, the Pevely producers who were members of the association voted on Sept. 1 to discontinue supplying milk to the Pevely dairy.

The milk war which the co-operating producers, distributors and consumers had striven to prevent was thus precipitated. Dumping of milk, intimidation of producers and truck drivers and other more serious acts of violence occurred. The Pevely Co. obtained a court order restraining interference with the milk coming from its producers. A peace conference called by the Illinois Director of Agriculture failed to settle the controversy, as the head of the Pevely dairy, while offering to deal with the producers, refused to enter into any negotiations with the officials of the milk producers' association or to submit the case to arbitration. Association members commenced to solicit Pevely customers to purchase their milk from co-operating dealers and announced favorable action by large numbers.

The association soon claimed that the Pevely dairy, in its effort to obtain milk, was buying it from local producers and others in distant states who did not comply with the St. Louis ordinances requiring separate milk houses for the handling and storage of milk. On Feb. 24, 1931, the St. Louis Health Commissioner had notified each licensed dealer in writing that this provision would be strictly enforced beginning May 1. The producers claim that they spent in the aggregate $750,000 in providing the milk houses and that each dealer was obliged to cut off some producers who were unable or unwilling to incur the expense.

In answer to the protest of the association, the Health Commissioner on Sept. 10 announced through the newspapers that in view of the existing situation he had declared a moratorium on milk houses for the time being. It does not appear that any written notice of the suspension of his order of Feb. 24, 1931, was sent to the dealers and there is considerable uncertainty among them as to the scope and period of the moratorium.

The struggle still continues. No one publicly approves the violent and unlawful acts. The officials of the Sanitary Milk Producers insist that they have advised against violence and deny that there is any clear evidence that these acts have been committed by any of their members. They claim that the Pevely dairy wishes to defeat the co-operative plan which is working successfully in practically every large city in the country and that its motive is to keep the producers unorganized so that it may be in a position to dictate prices.

The Pevely Dairy Co. very properly calls attention to the fine record it has maintained for quality of its product and relations with its producers during the many years of its growth from a small beginning to its existing large and splendidly equipped plant, which supplies approximately 40 per cent of the milk consumed in St. Louis. It denounces the acts of violence committed against it and its producers, and insists that usual evils incident to industrial conflict. The public which supports alike the producer and distributor has the right to make its wishes known and should insist upon a constructive solution of this controversy.

Meanwhile the war continues, bitterness of feeling is increased, a regulation intended to improve quality in milk is suspended in part at least, and the public suffers the usual evils incident to industrial conflict. The public which supports alike the producer and distributor has the right to make its wishes known and should insist upon a constructive solution of this controversy.

A PEACE CHAIR IN JERUSALEM.

From the London News-Chronicle.
THERE is a picturesque rightness about the establishment at Jerusalem, through the generosity of Sir Montague Burton, of a chair for the study of the international law of peace. A bitter irony has marked the working Jerusalem in the past, far more a center of strife than of peace. That is no reason why it should always be so, or why to a happier age the old city should not bear effectively the witness for which even in the darkest her name still stood.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS IRENE W. ALLEN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Winthrop Allen of New York, and granddaughter of Mrs. Daniel Catlin, 51 Westmoreland place, was formally presented to New York society Friday, Sept. 11. The party was a supper dance, given at the Allen country place, White Oak Farm, Shelter Island road, Manhasset, L. I. Dancing was in the ball room on the main floor of the house.

Preceding the party Miss Allen was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Miss Barbara Pratt, a New York debutante of last season and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Irving Pratt, a Welwyn, Glen Cove. At the same time Miss Pratt's sister, Mrs. Janet Ramsay Tunt Jr., formerly Miss Eleanor Pratt, entertained a group of her friends. The two groups, numbering about 150, were entertained out of doors on the lawn. Miss Pratt's guests, in addition to Miss Allen, included her sister, Miss Justine Allen.

Miss Allen is a niece of Daniel K. Catlin, 41 Westmoreland place, and Theron Catlin of Brentwood, and of Ephron Catlin of New York, formerly of St. Louis. Her mother, as Miss Irene Catlin, was a belle in St. Louis. Miss Catlin's great-grandmother was the late Mrs. Henry Kayser, of a prominent old St. Louis family, and the debutante is a cousin of Mrs. George Miltenberger, 2758 West Pine boulevard.

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Culp, Springfield, Ill., of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Lynn Culp, to Frank Overton Watts Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Watts, 23 Portland place, which took place March 18 in Springfield.

Mrs. Watts Jr. is with her parents in Springfield at present. She will join Mr. Watts in St. Louis within a short time, and they will take an apartment. She has visited her husband's family here frequently, and during the summer was their guest at their summer home Wequetonsing, Mich. Mrs. Watts Sr. and her family returned from the North about 10 days ago.

One of the first of the early autumn weddings will be that of Miss Eula Vesta Hald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hald, 6331 Alexander drive, and John Robert Emrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Emrick, 5157 Washington boulevard, which will take place this evening. The service will be read at 8 o'clock in the Grace Methodist Church by the Rev. Dr. James E. Crowther.

White chrysanthemums with touches of yellow, combined with greenery, will cover the altar, which will be illuminated by cathedral tapers.

The bride will be attended by Miss Katherine Williams as maid of honor, and by Mrs. William J. Hedley, Miss Dorothy Conzelman, Miss Frances Hackman and Miss Isabel Sultan, bridesmaids. The bridesmaids will be gowned in pink lace, designed with close-fitting bodices fashioned with the drop shoulder effect and short capes covering the upper arms, trimmed with twisted blue velvet ribbon. There will be long full skirts finished with blue velvet sashes and long streamers. The costume of the maid of honor will be in blue lace with pink velvet trimmings. The young women will carry Perinet roses and blue delphinium.

The bride's gown is of white satin made on long lines and clinging closely to the figure to the knees, where it flares to the floor and ends in a sweeping built-in train. The gown is untrimmed and has long satin sleeves. The tulle bridal veil will be arranged from clusters of orange blossoms. The bride will carry lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Erwin Griffin will be best man, and the ushers are to be Ralph Randall, Edward Hald Jr., brother of the bride; Sterling Hackman and Arthur Kehl.

A dinner for the bridal party will follow the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hald. The table is to be decorated with white roses and lilies of the valley, with candles in silver holders.

Mr. Emrick and his bride will tour the East and South on their wedding trip and will reside in St. Louis.

The bride is a graduate of Homer Hall and Washington University and has served as a maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball. Mr. Emrick is a graduate of Washington University and is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

Mrs. Mary B. Pollard, 24 Kingsbury place, has returned from a motor trip through Canada and Maine, where she was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. John D. McGee of Washington. They spent most of their time at Bar Harbor and Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Calfee, 32 Kingsbury place, returned home Thursday from a month's vacation at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Hot Springs, Va. They were accompanied by their son, Arthur, a junior at Princeton University, who will depart soon to resume his studies.

Of interest on the November calendar is the marriage of Miss Margaret Alewel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Alewel, 6145 Lindell boulevard, and B. H. Bristow Draper Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bristow Draper of Boston and Hopedale, Mass., to take place Nov. 14 at the Westminster Presbyterian Church. The wedding plans are incomplete, pending the arrival of Mr. Draper, who will come to St. Louis next week for a visit with his fiancée. Miss Alewel recently returned with her family after a tour of Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight Woodward of Chicago, formerly of St. Louis, will return here Oct. 1 to live, and

CHARITY GAME SEAT SALE NEARLY $15,000

Employees of Frisco Railroad Who Buy Tickets Will Have Afternoon Off.

Receipts from sales of boxes and reserved seats for the charity baseball game to be played Thursday between the Cardinals and the Browns approached the $15,000 mark today, when Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment, announced 111 boxes and about 5000 reserved seats had been sold. The committee will receive the entire proceeds.

Those who subscribe for boxes are asked to give something over the usual price as a contribution to charity. Fifty-seven have been sold at $100 each, 30 at $50, 18 at $25, two at $30, two at $20, and one each at $15 and $10. The boxes are sold at the Social Service Building, 2221 Locust street, and reserved seats at the box office on the mezzanine floor of the Arcade Building.

Employees of the Frisco Railroad who buy tickets for the game will have the afternoon off. A block of 400 was reserved yesterday by Arthur Stoehr, secretary of the Frisco Men's Club.

The Legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen postponed a meeting scheduled for Thursday so that its members may attend the game. The committee was to consider real estate tax assessment legislation.

Willis Johnson, secretary of the Browns, is to speak over radio station KMOX today at 5:55 p. m. Ernest Orsatti, Cardinal outfielder, will speak over the same station at 11 p. m. Pepper Martin will be on WIL at 7:30 p. m. and Sparky Adams on KWK at 7:30 p. m.

Additional subscriptions of $100 for boxes announced today were: Julius A. Baer, L. W. Baldwin, Kroger Grocery and Baking Co., John G. Lonsdale, Isaac H. Orr, T. M. Sayman, G. L. Tarleton, Mrs. John E. Thomson and one anonymous.

Max Littmann, Architect, Dies. MUNICH, Sept. 22.—Prof. Max Littmann, 70 years old, famous architect, died yesterday. He designed many of the notable theaters of Germany and rebuilt the famous Hofbrau Haus in Munich.

White King is the sensation of the Pacific Coast, leading all other soaps in sales. It is made from vegetable and nut oils pure enough to eat—the same oils that form the basis of good salad dressing. It comes in the most convenient known form for household soap—granulated, like sugar. When you buy White King, you get all soap—none of the air that helps fill packages of "flake" and "bubble" soaps. And White King positively cannot injure anything that can be safely dipped in water.

You'll be amazed to find how simple White King makes your washing. Suds are quick, rich and lasting—in hard or soft water. White King is effective for the heaviest blankets, gentle to the finest fabrics, kind to the most tender hands. It washes everything—clothes, fabrics, dishes, silver, glass, floors and woodwork. And it's economical. You only need a teaspoonful for a basin of water, a cupful for the washing machine. Don't fail to try it—today. Now at your dealer's.

PROMOTER TO GIVE OIL FIRM LOSERS ANOTHER CHANCE

R. G. Pearson of Warson Petroleum Co., Tells Referee-in-Bankruptcy of His New Marketing Project.

Rufus G. Pearson, peppery promoter of the Warson Petroleum Co., which failed last December, with indicated losses of more than $500,000 to creditors and investors, has an "approved plan" to repay subscribers to the Warson Petroleum Syndicate, he told Referee-in-Bankruptcy Coles yesterday.

Pearson, a small man of decisive manner and crisp speech, told under questioning of his plan to market a "nationally known product" in Missouri and four nearby states, acknowledging that descriptions of the plan are being mailed to syndicate investors.

The letters, on stationery of the Warson Petroleum Co., 3532 Gravois avenue, tell of a company formed by "persons with absolute faith and confidence in Mr. Pearson," and suggest that an immediate response by the subscriber with one-twentieth of his original syndicate investment will entitle him to "payments." The plan indicates "possible profits" of $180,000 annually, according to the letters.

Pearson said the syndicate, organized in 1925 to provide working capital for the petroleum company, had received $125,000 in subscriptions, of which $147,000 is still due. "I want to pay back every cent personally," he assured Referee Coles. "The company can't pay, and I consider it my obligation, because I inveigled the subscribers into it."

Some of the subscribers were repaid while the company was operating at a loss, Pearson testified, adding that he was confident its books would show a profit for 1927 and 1928. He said he had advanced $42,000 to the company and his wife had advanced $20,000, conceding he had withdrawn $60,000 to pay personal obligations.

"I owned the company," he explained, "and I considered it was my own money. The company did not have these obligations at that time."

Formed as a partnership in 1918, the organization was incorporated in 1922 with a capital stock of $3000, virtually all of which was owned by Pearson and his relatives. The jobbing of oil and oil products met stiff competition and in 1925 Pearson organized the syndicate with an expansion program in mind. Subscribers were to receive 7 per cent on their investment and get their capital back out of profits.

"But the syndicate was a mistake," Pearson said, "the cost of getting the money was about 20 per cent. When one way of raising money didn't work, we tried another and in 1926 we tried to float a $500,000 bond issue. Only $6000 worth of bonds were sold."

The Warson Petroleum Co. was placed in receivership last December and entered bankruptcy last April. Listing liabilities of $687,068 and assets of $260,000.

STUDENT FROM ST. LOUIS DIES

John Swarts Was in Second Year at Harvard.

John Swarts, 19-year-old son of Solomon L. Swarts, attorney, 530 Waterman avenue, died Friday at Boston, where he has been ill for several months. He was a second-year student at Harvard University. Burial will be at Milton, Mass., where members of the family are now visiting. His parents and a brother survive.

CARMEN'S UNION FILES REPLY BRIEF IN WAGE DISPUTE

er's family of five in St. Louis in June, 1931, was given in prison exhibits as $1252 a year, and possible earnings of a trainman, working eight hours a day every day in the year, at the maximum rate of 69 cents an hour, as $2014. Against this, the brief states, the average actual earnings of the trainman for the first six months of 1931 were at the rate of $1595 a year. "A living wage should be based on not more than a six-day week," the brief states, "with due allowance for loss of time to be expected through illness or other causes. A wage rate of 69 cents an hour for a six-day week, with no allowance for layoff, yields a yearly wage of only $1727.76, or $424.88 below the cost of the budget."

Court Rulings Quoted.

In support of the argument that the financial condition of the company should not be considered, the brief quotes from several court and arbitration decisions. One of these was a decision in the Boston Elevated Railroad case in 1924 by a board of arbitration, which stated: "The principle which applies to the relation between wages and the financial condition of employers, as generally stated by arbitration boards, by Federal Judges in receivership matters and by such authorities as Justice Higgins of the Arbitration Court of Australia, and Chief Justice Taft when chairman of the War Labor Board, is, in substance, that the employer is not a partner or joint adventurer, sharing in profits and losses, and that his remuneration ought not to depend on these contingencies."

Another quotation is from a railroad case decided by the Federal District Court in Nebraska in 1924 when the road was in receivership, as follows:

"The Court shares in their (four receivers) anxiety to have an economical administration of this trust to the end that those who own the property and have liens upon it may get out of it what is fairly their due, but to accomplish this desirable result, the wages of the men must not be reduced below a reasonable and just compensation for their services. They must be paid fair wages, though no dividends are paid on the stock and no interest paid on the bonds. . . . There would seem to be no equity in reducing wages of the employees below what is reasonable and just in order to pay dividends on stock and interest on bonds."

Attacks Company's Figures.

The union argues further that "even if the financial condition of the company were material, its actual condition, as shown by the evidence, does not warrant a wage reduction." The union brief states: "The burden of the company's case is a plea of abject poverty. (Quoting from the company's brief): 'There is no liquid resource in the company's treasury, no hidden fund of gold, or any other source might be had when the next interest-paying day rolls around.' It seems, forsooth, that not prosperity but the Sheriff is around the corner. It is a sad and gloomy story spread out with great perseverance over 53 of the 83 pages in the company's brief."

The Arbitration Board is reminded that the company's own evidence showed that its operations for the first six months of 1931 resulted in net profit of $54,000, and for the first seven months in net profit of $80,000. That profit in 1928 was $1,032,000; in 1929, $1,065,000; in 1930, $434,000. The union contends further that these figures actually were understated by about $2,000,000 in the aggregate because the company had charged depreciation in excess of the $800,000 a year allowed by the Missouri Public Service Commission.

Deferred Maintenance Attached.

The company's argument that to avoid a deficit in the early part of 1931 it has had to defer maintenance to the amount of about $495,000, which will have to be made up later, is questioned.

"Summarizing our comments on this point that the company has stressed so repeatedly," the brief states, "we submit, first, that the company has admitted that no repair was omitted which would interfere with the safety, the continuity, or the regularity of the service; second, even if maintenance had been deferred, it constitutes no reason for penalizing these workers since it was not their decision to buy back the company's bonds at the expense of proper maintenance (reference to the expenditure of several million dollars in the purchase of the company's own securities at a discount); and third, the company's own exhibits show that this item of 'deferred maintenance,' while it may represent the flowering of a creative imagination, unfortunately lacks the essential element of factual support."

Two Items Disputed.

Two items of the company's operating expenses are questioned—the reserve for injuries and damages and administrative costs. The amount set aside annually for injuries and damages is about $1,500,000. "It is difficult to comprehend," the union brief states, "why a sum more than three times as large, proportionately, as that set aside in Chicago should be necessary in St. Louis. The amount charged is an expense for this purpose in St. Louis is over a million and a half and is actually larger than the whole amount set up by the Chicago Surface Lines, a system three times as large as that operated in St. Louis."

"It is stated by Mr. Francis (the company's counsel) when he testified that the reserves set up are estimates based upon past experience. The number of accidents has declined more than 20 per cent in 1930 as compared to 1929. The cost per settlement, the cost per claim not in suit and the average cost of litigation have all declined since 1929. Yet the estimated total cost has increased. The reason that was advanced was that the number of suits filed has increased. But this region, in and of itself, is not an adequate explanation, since it raises the further question whether there has not come about a change for the worse in either the attitude of the public to the company or the attitude of the company to the public. In either event the responsibility at least in part must rest upon the shoulders of the management. Good will is a sensitive plant and its loss is costly. Its roots go deeper than radio programs."

Administrative expenses, which the company admitted had not decreased in proportion as had other expenses, but promised to curtail drastically, are commented upon as follows:

"Supposing this threat or promise—depending upon the point of view—were carried into effect to the extent of only 50 per cent, it must be apparent that Mr. Clarke (president) contemplates saving for the company forthwith, after this case is over, of course, something like $600,000 or $700,000 a year. Now if a saving of such magnitude is in store for the company, what, may we ask, becomes of the proposition that a wage cut is the sole and only imperative solution of the company's ills?"

The arbitration board is composed of former Mayor Henry W. Kiel, selected by the union; E. J. Miller, a manufacturer, selected by the company, and former Circuit Judge Harry E. Sprague, chosen by the other two.

The wage case directly affects about 3500 street railway employees who are members of the union. Nearly 3000 are trainmen. The company has announced that the remainder of its 4800 employees, except for the higher paid executives, will be treated in accordance with the decision of the arbitration board. President Stanley Clarke testified before the board that the company intended to apply "somewhat larger reductions" to the higher paid personnel.

the parade left Jefferson avenue and moved through the principal business section, past the City Hall, where the reviewing stand was erected. Then it entered the hotel district, where the veterans disbanded.

Prohibition Resolutions.

Resolutions on prohibition, including some proposing a state referendum and others asking for a nation-wide referendum, are in the hands of the convention resolutions committee, which was called to meet tonight.

As a result of President Hoover's address yesterday, in which he discussed the condition of the National Treasury, and of speeches by other leaders, including the national commander, Ralph T. O'Neill, officials today agreed that action for further payments on the veterans' bonus is extremely unlikely. Legion officers from all parts of the country told newspaper men they believed nothing further in the way of cash payments would be asked for by the convention. A protest against the present interest rate of 4 1/2 per cent on bonus loans had strong support, however, including that of Commander

O'Neill, William D. Lyons of Minnesota was elected "Grand Chef de Chemin de Fer" of the Forty and Eight, funmaking organization of the Legion, yesterday. He succeeds Charles E. Perry of Maine.

United States customs inspectors said they had confiscated more than 2800 bottles of beer, whisky, champagne and other liquors from Legion men returning from Windsor, Ont., to Detroit last evening. The inspectors said they believed word had been passed among the war veterans that customs inspectors would not molest Legion visitors bringing liquor from Canada. So widely had the erroneous word been spread, they said, that Legion visitors were attempting to bring liquor through Detroit River ports in case lots, making no attempt at concealment.

* Noted Clinic Head *

PROF. DR. MUELLER-DEHAM heads the clinic for internal diseases in the Vienna Versorgungshaus.

* Tells how Yeast Keeps Intestines Clean *

IN HIS FAMOUS CLINIC, Prof. Dr. Mueller-Deham demonstrates where yeast gets in its good work. "Eaten regularly, fresh yeast will correct constipation and prevent its recurrence," he explains.

* Add it to Your Diet! *

EAT YEAST just plain, or dissolved in a third of a glass of water, or any other way you may prefer.

In this Celebrated Vienna Clinic

... the action of fresh yeast is demonstrated in cases of INTESTINAL FATIGUE. Read what Professor Dr. Mueller-Deham says about this trouble

IMAGINE you are visiting one of Europe's foremost medical clinics... the clinic for internal diseases of the Versorgungshaus, famous hospital and welfare institute run by the city of Vienna.

And imagine you are listening to a lecture being delivered by the head of this celebrated clinic... Professor Dr. Albert Mueller-Deham, of the University of Vienna.

Dr. Mueller-Deham is telling about that commonplace ailment which afflicts nearly all of us from time to time... that old, unpleasant malady, Intestinal Fatigue.

He says: "People who suffer from an unclean condition of the intestines are a prey to headaches, sore throats and other infections... Intestinal poisons also tend to hasten the process of growing old. "In recent years medical science has discovered that excellent results may be obtained by prescribing fresh yeast. "Yeast is a food, of very special nature. It has many advantages. Regularly used, it will correct constipation in a very natural way. "Fresh yeast keeps the intestinal tract free of poisons. It increases the flow of gastric juices. It corrects stubborn skin troubles such as pimples and boils... The whole system is cleansed and fortified against disease."

Now isn't that a clear-cut medical statement? A statement worth acting upon? Fresh yeast, you know—such as the foil-wrapped Fleischmann's Yeast which you know so well—is a simple, three-times-a-day addition to your diet... a food, with a remarkable effect in cases of Intestinal Fatigue. Eaten faithfully, a cake before each meal, or between meals and at bedtime, Fleischmann's Yeast moistens and softens accumulated waste masses in the intestinal tract. In addition, it stimulates the action of the intestines, helps your body throw off undigested residue in a natural way. Thus, poisons from stagnating food wastes no longer flood the body to cause bad breath, bad skin, headaches, indigestion, etc. Your color returns—appetite renews itself—you feel energetic and alert!

DON'T put it off any longer! Go to your grocer and place a standing order for three cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every day. Eat a cake before each meal, or between meals and at bedtime—in water, milk or plain.

You can get Fleischmann's Yeast, you know, at restaurants and soda fountains as well as grocery stores, and each cake is rich in three health-giving vitamins—vitamins B and G and the "sunshine" vitamin D. Why not add it to your diet—starting today?

Eat 3 cakes a day!

Remember, it's important to ask your grocer for Fleischmann's fresh Yeast (with the yellow label)... the only yeast that contains the Sunshine Vitamin D. Every cake is "irradiated" to give it this added element so important for sun-starved indoor workers. It is rich in Vitamins B and G, too.

SIX-FOOT TELEVISION SCREEN AT RADIO SHOW

Device Practical for Theater Use—Home Talkies Also Demonstrated.

Television, home talkies, a baby show, the newest in radio and the lucky fellow who has himself sealed in ice twice a day to the envy of throw-mopping throngs are at National Radio Show, which opened yesterday and will continue through Saturday evening in the Coliseum.

A recent phase of television, permitting use of a screen six feet square and therefore practical for theater use, was ready today for daily demonstrations. It is the work of a 24-year-old inventor, U. S. Sanabria of Chicago, who has incorporated with George Gruskins, a radio editor two years younger than the inventor, as president.

The huge apparatus was set up so that spectators could see the performers both "in person" and on the screen. Plans were to allow some of the spectators themselves to take part if circumstances permitted. Some delay was encountered in tearing down a light stage which had been erected to hold the three-ton machinery.

How the Device Works. At the sending end performers faced a half-dozen photo-electric "eyes" while a light passing through a lens disc played over their features. Wires, rather than radio for the purpose of this demonstration, transmitted the impulses, as modulated by the photo-electric cells, to a projector which cast the image, through an angle lens disc, on the screen. The whirling discs were synchronized at a rim speed of 120 miles an hour. Experts who saw demonstrations commented that the device was on the nickelodeon stage, and others remarked that it had genuine entertainment value.

Another continuous performance attracting hundreds daily is the show of home talkies on a machine which looks like an ordinary radio phonograph. It is a radio phonograph, but it also shows silent movies or talkies. Synchro-nized with the device, records can be rented. The price of the machine is more than $500.

Wider Range of Prices. A widening range in prices as well as design and the salesmen's reception, was noted in the booth displays. At least two of the better known manufacturers' display radio phonographs at little more than $100. Those priced at $200 range now include automatic record change and other innovations in reception and convenience. One includes a microphone for making electric records. Virtually all the larger concerns include the tiny styles while' became popular more than a year ago, with improvements in efficiency and prices down to $10 or less.

Many manufacturers are going in for automobile radio in a big way, and both attendants enlarge glowingly on elimination of ignition noises and "coast to coast" reception, with a few Mexican and Havana stations thrown in.

Afternoon and evening performances by St. Louis entertainers, with a few from the national chains, including "The Shadow" of Columbia mystery broadcasts, are presented at the Crystal Studio in the south end of the arena. Performances are to be broadcast for a half-hour daily by KSD, beginning at 4:15 p. m. and for alternate hours by KWK and KMOX nightly.

NO ACTION AGAINST MAID

The Circuit Attorney's office yesterday refused to issue a warrant charging extortion against Clara Wagner, Negro maid, who told police she had written four notes found near the home of Paul Piccone, $710. Waterman avenue, managing editor of Roma, an Italian weekly.

The maid, employed at the Piccone home, told the Circuit Attorney she had written all the four originals supplied by another person. It was ruled that as the notes were placed at a downstairs apartment, whereas the Piccones lived upstairs, and actual delivery to them was not made, a criminal action could not be sustained. Mrs. Piccone is a daughter of the late Pietro Viviano, wealthy macaroni manufacturer.

BERTHOLD FUNERAL TOMORROW

Funeral services for Miss Marie Louise Berthold, secretary at Bishop Tuttle Memorial, who died Monday at St. Luke's Hospital following an operation, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home of relatives at 4432 Lindell boulevard to Christ Church Cathedral.

Miss Berthold was a descendant of Bartholomew Berthold, who came to St. Louis in 1809. She was born in St. Louis and educated at Washington University, taking an active part in girls' organizations and religious affairs. Surviving are a sister, Miss Virginia E. Berthold, with whom she lived at Park-Piazza Hotel, and two cousins, Misses Claire and Eugene Berthold of the Lindell boulevard address.

OIL PRODUCTION SHOWS

41,704 BARREL INCREASE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The petroleum industry today reported a 41,704 barrel increase in oil production for the week ending September 21, 1931.

The increase was due to a combination of factors, including a rise in production in the Gulf of Mexico and a decline in production in the Midwest.

The total production for the week was 41,704 barrels, compared with 37,530 barrels for the week ending September 14, 1931.

The increase was the largest since the week ending August 28, 1931, when production rose by 38,000 barrels.

The petroleum industry is expected to continue its growth in the coming months, as demand for oil remains strong.

The increase in production is a reflection of the industry's ability to meet the growing demand for oil.

The petroleum industry is a key sector of the economy, and its growth is essential for the country's development.

The increase in production is a positive sign for the industry, and it is expected to continue in the coming months.

ARRESTED AFTER RENO DIVORCE
By the Associated Press.
RENO, Nev., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Marjorie Witter, divorcee from New Market, N. J., was arrested last night charged with committing perjury in connection with the trial of her divorce suit yesterday.

Harlan L. Heward, representing the grievance committee of the Washington County Bar Association, was the complaining witness. Howard filed with the District Attorney's office affidavits signed by Charles Henry Witter, the woman's husband, and by her mother and father, alleging that Mrs. Witter had been in New Market on July 6, whereas at her trial she had testified Reno had been her permanent home since June 27. According to the District Attorney's office, Mrs.

Witter admitted that she did not arrive here until July 10. Her divorce complaint was filed Aug. 10, which would give her but 30 days instead of the required six weeks' residence necessary.

Extension of Drouth Relief.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Drouth loan regulations for eight Western states have been amended by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde to permit farmers to borrow funds for the purchase of feed for brood sows. The amendment authorizes loans not to exceed costs of feeding 10 sows for six months at 75 cents a head each month. Farmers in the drouth areas of North and South Dakota, Montana, Utah, Washington, Nebraska, Idaho and Wyoming may now borrow for feeding cattle, sheep and horses.

TRUCKING MONOPOLY INJUNCTION ARGUED

U. S. Judge Davis Hears Terminal's Contract Attacked and Defended.

The application of Central Transfer Co. for a permanent injunction restraining Columbia Terminals Co. and 18 railroads from putting into effect a contract which would give the Columbia Co. a monopoly on the transfer of freight to and from off-track stations was argued today before Federal Judge Davis.

The contract, approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission in a 6-2 decision, was to have become effective Sept. 1 but was suspended by a restraining order issued by Federal Judge Otis at Kansas City. The Central Co. charges the contract violates the anti-trust laws.

Joseph Morrill, vice president and general manager of the Central Co., testified yesterday that 97 per cent of its business consisted of handling freight at off-track stations. The company maintained four of these, and all would be discontinued under the contract, he said. The Central Co., Morrill said, handled about 150,000 tons of less than car-load freight at off-track stations each year and the Columbia Co. about 750,000 tons.

Henry A. Trorlicht and Charles H. Duncker, officers of Trorlicht-Duncker Carpet Co. and principal stockholders of the Central Transfer Co., testified that when the monopoly contract was under consideration Joseph F. Murphy, vice president of the Columbia Co., told them the Central Co. would soon be out of business and offered to purchase its equipment.

Trorlicht and Duncker said they had refused to consider the offer because they did not agree with Murphy that they would soon be out of business.

Edward Clemens, traffic manager for the Terminal Railroad Association, testified it was expected that the new contract would save railroads $245,000 a year by eliminating duplication of facilities. Two of the nine off-track stations maintained by the Columbia Co. and the four operated by the Central Co. would be eliminated, he said.

The system of off-track stations was developed in the St. Louis area because several of the Eastern railroads have terminals in East St. Louis. Transfer companies complete the haul to St. Louis by truck, acting as agents for the railroads.

$600,000 Fire Loss at Ford Plant.
By the Associated Press.
CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 22.—Officers of the Chester branch of the Ford Motor Co. announced the fire which swept three buildings of the plant yesterday caused $600,000 damage.

NEGRO SHOT AFTER WOMAN IS BEATEN IN HER HOME
East St. Louis Detectives Wound Youth Seen Leaving Yard of Widow.
Opie Johnson, 17-year-old Negro of 1427 Piggott avenue East St. Louis, was shot in the chest by an East St. Louis detective at 11:45 o'clock last night when he refused to halt as he fled from the vicinity of a house from which a woman's screams had been heard.
Investigation disclosed that Mrs. Mary Bergman, widow and mother of three children, had been beaten by a Negro who had broken into her home at 1216 Gaty avenue a few minutes before, and her screams attracted three East St. Louis detectives cruising in an automobile in the neighborhood. The detectives saw a Negro run out of Mrs. Bergman's yard, and one of them, Detective Robert Sweeney, shot Johnson as he vaulted over a fence.
Mrs. Bergman, who was in bed when the Negro broke into her home through a rear window, was beaten on the head and chest with a stone. She suffered severe scalp lacerations and was treated at St. Mary's Hospital. The wounded Negro was also taken there. He will recover. Detectives announced he had admitted breaking into Mrs. Bergman's home for the purpose of robbery.

EX-CONVICT SAID TO ADMIT PART IN LOAN OFFICE HOLDUP
He Is Arrested at Home After Witnesses Identify His Police Photograph.
Paul Cotterell, 27-year-old former convict of 4048 Cottage avenue, is being held by police, charged with robbery at the Royal Loan Co., 1506 Hodiament avenue, Sept. 10, when two men took $350. He was arrested at his home yesterday after witnesses had identified his police photograph. Emmett Fitzgibbons, manager of the loan company, and three others identified him yesterday as one of the holdup men. Police say Cotterell admitted the robbery and took them to a field in St. Louis County where he had hidden a revolver.
Cotterell was sentenced to two concurrent five-year terms for robbery here in 1925, and was released from the penitentiary about two years ago.

JAIL TERM FOR PETTY FRAUD
Man Convicted of Diverting Electricity With a Jumper.
Karl Rosenbach, a switchman, 4156 Farlin avenue, was sentenced to serve three days in jail and to pay a fine of $25 by a jury in Judge Butler's division of the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday for diverting electricity.
Rosenbach was arrested July 7 on complaint of an inspector for the Union Electric Light and Power Co., who testified he found a jumper on the electric meter in the Rosenbach home. Rosenbach declared he had not placed the jumper there.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Air Wading

JOHN and Peggy took a good look at their air farm. The Little Black Clock had been able, because of his magic, to turn the time far forward into the future when they had farms in the air.

Just as in the old days planes could stay up for a long time now they would build houses and farms upon gigantic dirigibles which could stay up in the air all the time.

Many people like to take trips and stay up in the air for a very long time, and others liked to stay there almost all the time.

In fact, it was almost as much of an excitement in these days for people to visit the earth, as it was in the days when John and Peggy's parents were young to see planes flying overhead.

The one who owned the farm explained how they not only made deliveries of milk in the milk plane, but how they took eggs and chickens and other farm produce to the air hotels.

There were planes for all of these provisions and John and Peggy could not get over the tremendous difference between these days of the future, and the days when wagons and then automobiles had carried food from the country.

But now the one who owned the farm asked them if they would like to go wading.

He took them to a pond, not far from where the cows waded in their stream, and they went in wading.

The water, the air-farmer explained, had come from clouds, and they had special pipes which they could run into rain clouds whenever they wanted any water.

It was a beautiful ending to their thrilling trip to the air farm. Then they took their plane and went back to the earth.

THE WAY OF A WOMAN

By Marguerite M. Marshall

What Every Woman Has Always Suspected!

EVERY woman has found out, by long experience, that if she wants to get the truth about anything,

The genuine, low-down, unadorned explanation back of the great—

Why, then, the trick for her to play is to ask another woman! Once more this law is illustrated in the news,

For it reports a woman's revelation of what is undoubtedly the truth.

About why the subjects of Mustapha Kemal no longer have four wives, or more.

But—like any poor American—worry along with one.

The correct answer, given by a woman who knows, is that the terrible-Turk himself could not STAND polygamy—

Even his morale of traditional fierceness cracked under the strain—

Which, of course, is what every woman (every married one, any-how) has always suspected!

The cat has been let out of the bag, right here in New York.

By Mme. Halide Edib, charming and intelligent Turkish writer and now guest lecturer at Barnard College.

She was commenting, the other day on the abolition of polygamy in her country.

A change proclaimed, with a loud flourish, by the men governing Turkey.

In their gesture of homage in the thrilling trip to the air farm. Then they took their plane and went back to the earth.

They did it all—according to them—for the protection of daughters, wives and they (Turkish men) simply noble?

So by indirection, they seemed to ask the world.

Now women-mystical creatures!—are always suspicious of the man who dilates upon the sacrifices he makes for their sake

In the words of one wise wife of our acquaintance, when her yacht-climbing husband gave her a beach for a birthday present.

"Two for you and one for me!"

So that American woman is surprised to hear Mme. Halide Edib admit blandly.

That while polygamy is no longer being "done" in her country

NEVER was "done," to any great extent, was not, in short, generally popular.

Because—smiled Mme. Edib—"it's hard enough

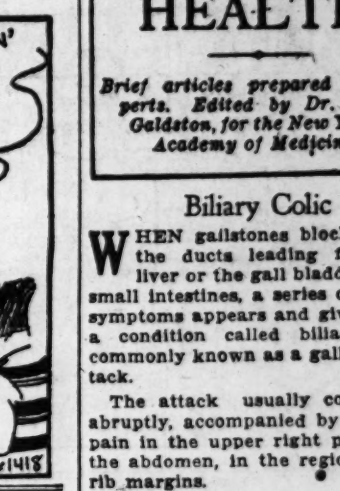

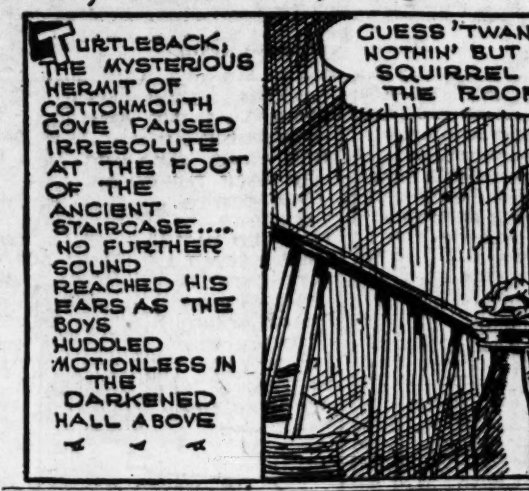

To manage one woman, let alone two, three or four."

There, if you ask us or any of our sex, is the sure-enough secret in a nutshell.

Confident Tone Prevails Following Action to Meet Financial Crisis—Move for Gold Conference.

THE TEMPER

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Sept. 23. — Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party, and a member of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's Nationalist Cabinet, is at the helm of the British Government today, following the departure late yesterday of MacDonald for a secret destination in the country to recuperate from the strain of meeting the recent crises in the nation's finances. Baldwin, who is Lord President of the Council, heads the Government, for the first time since 1929, as Acting Prime Minister, and will preside at Cabinet meetings until MacDonald's return.

Some newspapers profess to see in MacDonald's departure a connection with the growing movement for an early appeal to the electorate on a protective tariff issue. The Herald, Labor organ, says he was being offered a bewildering variety of advice and slipped away to take counsel with himself. Other newspapers write of the election as an assured act, saying MacDonald is willing to go to the people with a tariff policy sure of the support of the Conservatives and half of the Liberals headed by Sir John Simon.

David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, however, is understood to be hostile to an election, and is said to have prepared a scathing manifesto against it if it becomes an issue.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 23. — The London Chamber of Commerce informed Prime Minister MacDonald today that its members, by a vote of 4196 to 241, had expressed in themselves a strong position of tariff. The vote was a tabulation of replies to a questionnaire.

"This Chamber is convinced," the letter to MacDonald said, "that an immediate tariff is essential, that by this step alone can the confidence of the business community be restored and the currency be re-established on a stable basis."

STOCKS UP S RAILS LEAD

A confident tone prevailed on the London Stock Exchange this afternoon resulting from a gradual influx of buying orders and the absence of big selling. The exchange reopened this morning after having been closed two days as a precautionary measure resulting from the Government's suspension of the gold standard for six months.

Entire Investm Shows Strength Wheat React

Gilt-edge stocks improved in most cases 1 per cent from their opening level. German 7 per cent bonds rose three points to 69, while French 4 1/2 per cent bonds ruled steady on Wall Street's opening. Indian materials continued a strong feature, most of the morning declines on profit-taking being wiped out and gains were recorded. Iron, coal and steel shares being prominent. The strength of the Paris bourse aided general improvement in continental favorites during late dealings.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 23. — The market closed steady after adjustment of prices to coincide with a higher bank rate. On the whole business was fair, with interest in the feature, especially from and steel shares being prominent. The strength of the Paris bourse aided general improvement in continental favorites during late dealings.

Richard Whitman, the Stock Exchange short selling on Monday, said "the exchange in this bidding short selling was of its long. In this regard, it merely an emergency introduction restriction as a test, and, therefore, decided."

Center of Chief Interest. Chief interest centered in industrial, gold mines and oil shares which equaled yesterday's undisturbed street prices and were well above the first quotations. One of the first quotations was made on the war loan at 94, which, quite nominal, compared with 97 1/2 Saturday.

KILLED IN CR DICKERSON. Lieut. William H. Mount Clemens, 21, was killed today in his army plane side of Dickerson in the ship. Persons who were before it crashed parently was having the motor. The plane crashed just as it was from the wreckage.
